

RULES OF
THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES WITH
TEXAS LEGISLATIVE PRECEDENTS, CONGRES-SIONAL PRECEDENTS, AND ANNOTATIONS.***

---

RULE I.

DUTIES AND RIGHTS OF THE SPEAKER.

SECTION 1. The Speaker shall take the chair on each legislative day precisely at the hour at which the House shall have adjourned at its last sitting; but if no hour was fixed at such sitting, then at 10 o'clock, a. m., and immediately call the Members to order and ascertain the presence of a quorum by a roll call of the members of the House.

SEC. 2. He shall preserve order and decorum, and in case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or in the lobby, may cause the same to be cleared by his own motion.

SEC. 3. He shall have general control, except as provided by law, of the Hall of the House, its lobby, galleries, corridors, passages and unappropriated rooms in that part of the Capitol assigned to the use of the House.

SEC. 4. He shall lay before the House its business in the order indicated by the rules, and shall receive propositions made by Members, and put them to the House, and shall enforce the rules of the House, and the Legislative rules prescribed by the Constitution.

SEC. 5. He shall rise to put a question but may state it sitting; and he shall put the question distinctly in this form, to-wit: "As many as are in favor (as the question may be) say 'aye'," and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are opposed say 'no'." If the Speaker be in doubt as to the result, or if a division is called for, the House shall divide; those in the affirmative on the question shall register "aye" on the machine, and those in the negative on the question shall register "no," but such vote shall not be printed in the Journal unless the yeas and nays are called for by not less than three Members of the House prior to the announcement of the decision by the Speaker.

SEC. 6. He shall not be required to vote in ordinary Legislative proceedings, except where his vote would be decisive, or where the House is engaged in voting by ballot; and in all cases of a tie vote the question shall be lost.

SPEAKER'S VOTE.—The Speaker has the same right as other members to vote (H. P., V, 5966, 5967).

In case of error whereof the correction leaves decisive effect to the Speaker's vote he may exercise his right, even though the result has been announced (H. P., V, 5970).

SEC. 7. He shall decide on all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House made by any ten members. No Member shall speak more than once on an appeal unless he is given leave by a majority vote of the House. No motion shall be in order, pending an appeal except a motion to adjourn, a motion to lay on the table, a motion for the previous question and a motion for call of the House.

[As a general rule the Speaker does not submit points of order to the House on questions of procedure. When a point of order is raised on the constitutionality of a pending matter, the Speaker rules if there is little or no doubt existing, but where there is a reasonable doubt, the Speaker submits such point to the House for its decision.

While the Speaker submits points of order on the constitutionality of a proposition directly to the House, it is contrary to well established parliamentary practice for him to submit other points of order directly to the House for a decision except in rare instances. Frequently the Speaker submits a constitutional point to the House to be determined by the House on its final vote on the proposition.

A Member called to the Chair pending an appeal does not entertain or decide on any other point of order until the appeal has first been determined by the House. The question on an appeal is, "Shall the Chair be sustained?" It is pending without motion.]

DECISIONS OF THE SPEAKER.—The Speaker may inquire for what purpose a Member rises and then may deny recognition (C. P., VI, 289), and an inquiry to ascertain for what purpose a Member rises does not constitute recognition (C. P., VI, 293). While circumscribed by the rules and practice of the House, the exercise of the power of recognition is not subject to a point of order (C. P., VI, 294). The Speaker may require that a question of order be presented in writing (H. P., V, 6865). He is not required to decide a question not directly presented by the proceedings (H. P., II, 1314). Debate on a point of order, being for his information, is within his discretion (H. P., V, 6919, 6920). In discussing questions of order the rule of relevancy is strictly construed and debate is confined to the point of order and does not admit reference to the merits of the pending proposition (C. P., VI, 3449). Preserving the authority and binding force of parliamentary law is as much the duty of each Member of the House as it is the duty of the Chair (Speaker Gillett, Jan. 3, 1923, 67th Cong., 4th session, p. 1205). Points of order are recorded in the Journal (H. P., IV, 2840, 2841), but responses to parliamentary inquiries are not so recorded (H. P., IV, 2842). He does not decide on the legislative effect of propositions (H. P., II, 1274, 1323, 1324), or on the consistency of proposed action with other acts of the House (H. P., II, 1327-1336), or on the constitutional powers of the House (H. P., II, 1255, 1318-1320, 1490; H. P., IV, 3507), or on the propriety or expediency of a proposed course of action (H. P., II, 1275, 1325, 1326, 1337; H. P., IV, 3091-3093, 3127). It is not the duty of the Chair to decide hypothetical points of order or to anticipate questions which may be suggested in advance of regular order (C. P., VI, 249); nor is it the duty of the Chair to construe the Constitution as affecting proposed legislation (C. P., VI, 250). The effect or purport of a proposition is not a question to be passed on by the Chair, and a point of order as to the competency or meaning of an amendment does not constitute a parliamentary question (C. P., VI, 254). When precedents conflict, the Chair is constrained to give greatest weight to the latest decisions (C. P., VI, 248). He passes on the validity of conference reports (H. P., V, 6409, 6410, 6414-6416), but not on the question of whether or not a conference report violates instructions of the House (H. P., V, 6395).

APPEALS.—The right of appeal cannot be taken away from the House (H. P., V, 6002); but appeals may not be entertained from responses to parliamentary inquiries (H. P., V, 6002), or from his decision of recognition (H. P., II, 1425-1428). An appeal is not in order while another is pending (H. P., V, 6939-6941). Neither a motion nor an appeal may intervene between the motion to adjourn and the taking of the vote thereon (H. P., V, 5361). An appeal from the decision of the Chair may be entertained during the proceedings to secure a quorum (H. P., IV, 3037). A Member may not speak more than once on an appeal except by permission of the House (H. P., II, 1313; H. P., V, 6938).

SEC. 8. All committees and the chairmen of the same shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specifically directed by the House, in which case they shall be elected; and, if, upon such vote the number required shall not be elected by a majority of the votes given the House shall proceed to a second vote in which a plurality shall prevail; and in case a greater number than that required to compose or complete a committee shall have an equal number of votes, the House shall take another vote.

SEC. 9. All acts, addresses and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker as required by the Constitution; and all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and attested by the Chief Clerk, or the acting Chief Clerk.

SEC. 10. The Speaker shall have the right to name any Member to perform the duties of the Chair; provided, however, that if the House is not in session, the Speaker shall deliver a written order to the Chief Clerk naming the Member who shall call the House to order and preside during his absence.

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE.—A call of the House may take place with a Speaker pro tempore in the Chair (H. P., IV, 2989), and he may issue his warrant for the arrest of absent Members under a call of the House (63rd Cong., 1st session, p. 5498). When the Speaker is not present at the opening of a session he designates a Speaker pro tempore in writing (H. P., II, 1378, 1401), but he does not always name in open House the Member whom he calls to the Chair temporarily during the day's sitting (H. P., II, 1379, 1400).

SEC. 11. All employees of the House shall be appointed and selected by the Speaker and he shall have the right to discharge any of them.

RULE II.

ELECTION AND COMPENSATION OF OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. All officers of the House shall be elected by ballot and shall receive such compensation as the House may determine; and after their salary has been fixed no further or extra compensation whatsoever shall be allowed them. No officer or other employee of the House shall be permitted to receive directly or indirectly, either as a gift or otherwise, any compensation from any person whatsoever other than his regular salary from the House.

RULE III.

DUTIES OF THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to attend the House and the Committee of the Whole during their sittings and to maintain order under the direction of the Speaker and pending the election of the Speaker under the direction of the Chief Clerk.

SEC. 2. He shall have charge under the Speaker, for the purpose of maintaining order, the Hall of the House, its lobby, galleries and all other rooms in the Capitol assigned for its use.

The Sergeant-at-Arms and the Doorkeeper are instructed to clear the floor at eight-thirty a. m. each meeting day and enforce the rule with reference to privileges of the floor just as rigidly as if the House were in session.

SEC. 3. He shall execute the commands of the House and serve the writs and processes issued by the authority of the House and directed to him by the Speaker.

SEC. 4. He shall keep his office open daily, except Sundays, until one hour after the adjournment of the House and on Sundays from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m.

SEC. 5. The Assistants to the Sergeant-at-Arms shall assist the Sergeant-at-Arms in the performance of his duties and shall have the same authority subject to the control of the Speaker. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall each day report to the Speaker the serial number of and the time of the receipt of all bills or resolutions from the public printer.

RULE IV.*DUTIES OF THE CLERKS.

SECTION 1. The Chief Clerk shall have general charge and supervision, under the direction of the Speaker, over the secretarial (and clerical) work of the House; and pending the election of a Speaker Pro Tempore, he shall call the House to order, preserve order and decorum, and decide all questions of order, subject to appeal of the House. He shall attest all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House, and shall certify to the passage of bills and joint resolutions, noting thereon the date of their passage and the vote by which they were passed, if by yea and nay vote. In addition to his other duties, the Chief Clerk shall issue all warrants and vouchers of whatever character, and keep an accurate account with all Members and employees of the House. At the end of each session reports, records, bills, papers, et cetera, in the hands of the various clerks shall be filed with the Chief Clerk, unless otherwise specifically provided for, and shall be filed by him with the proper State official.

[The last part of this rule does not apply to warrants or vouchers issued by the Committee on Contingent Expenses. Such warrants or vouchers are signed by the Speaker and the Chairman of the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

A daily record of the arrivals and departures of the clerks and stenographers is kept by the Chief Clerk and submitted at the end of each day to the Speaker.

In the event of the absence, resignation or death of the Chief Clerk, the Reading Clerk takes charge and attends to all the duties of the office until the Chief Clerk returns or his successor is elected.

The reports of select committees are filed with the Chief Clerk and printed in the Journal, and reports of standing committees are listed in the Journal.

All messages from the House to the Senate are transmitted by the Chief Clerk or his representative under the signature of the Chief Clerk. It is his duty to number in their order of filing all bills, joint resolutions, and concurrent resolutions.

All petitions presented by Members of the House are filed with the Chief Clerk, and are referred by him to the committee considering the question to which they relate.]

SEC. 2. The Calendar Clerk shall keep the Calendar of the House so as to show the action had on and the present status of all bills and resolutions, and shall have prepared and placed on each Member's desk daily a memorandum showing the following data relative to each bill read on first reading on the preceding day, to-wit, the number of the bill, the author and, if more than one author, the name first appearing, brief data showing subject matter, and the name of the committee to which referred. The Calendar Clerk shall have charge of the printing of bills when authorized by the rules, or by a vote of the House. He shall keep an exact record of the date and the hour of delivery of bills to the printer in the order they have been sent. He shall see that all bills are printed in the order of their delivery to the printer, unless otherwise ordered by the Speaker. He shall also keep a record of the date and hour that each bill is returned from the printer, and shall furnish such information to the Speaker. The Calendar Clerk, or his assistant, shall keep the desk open between the hours of 8 a. m. and 12 m. and 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. (except Sunday), and at such other hours as the House or Committees may be in session. He shall have charge of all petitions, memorials, and like matter referred to the Committees. When such matters have been returned, he shall carefully keep the same for preservation in the archives of the Legislature.

[See annotation at end of Section 7 of Rule 19.]

SEC. 3. The Journal Clerk shall keep a Journal of the proceedings of the House, in which all proceedings, when not acting in the Committee of the Whole, shall be entered as concisely and accurately as possible. In this Journal there shall be entered the number and the caption of every bill introduced. All simple and concurrent resolutions, motions, amendments, questions of order with the decisions thereon, and the messages from the Governor and from the Senate, shall be printed in full. The reports made by the standing Committees, as well as the special ones, shall also be printed in the Journal.

[Minority reports are printed with the bill or resolution to which they relate, and are not printed in the Journal unless ordered by the House. Senate amendments which are laid before the House for concurrence, etc., are not printed unless they are agreed to, or ordered printed. Senate amendments agreed to by the House should be printed in the Journal at the time of concurrence in order that the Members and others interested may have a complete copy of the bill or resolution as finally passed.]

Every vote of the House shall be entered in the Journal with the concise statement of the action and of the result.

[Pairs are entered on the Journal as a part of the vote. Reasons for votes on a yea and nay vote may be filed with the Journal Clerk for publication in the Journal.]

SEC. 4. The Journal as made up each calendar day shall be submitted to the Speaker for his examination, correction and approval, and, when approved by him, shall be printed under the supervision of the Journal Clerk, and copies thereof laid upon the desk of each Member on the succeeding calendar day. It need not be read before the House unless the membership so orders by a majority vote of those present.

[The Speaker relies upon the Journal Clerk to keep an accurate account of the proceedings, and seldom, if ever, examines the Journal before it is printed.]

SEC. 5. The Engrossing Clerk shall typewrite, without erasures, interlineations or additions in the margin, all bills and joint resolutions that have passed their second reading and have been ordered engrossed. He shall submit his work to the Committee on Engrossed Bills for their examination, correction and approval before the work is returned to the House. He shall perform any other clerical work for the House, its Members or its Committees, as may be assigned to him by the Speaker.

[This rule applies only to House bills.

The engrossed copy of a bill shows it as amended on second reading. If the bill is amended on third reading, copies of the amendments accompany the engrossed copy of the bill to the Senate as "engrossed riders."

House concurrent resolutions which have passed the House are engrossed in the same manner as House bills and are sent to the Senate.]

SEC. 6. The Enrolling Clerk shall enroll all bills, joint resolutions and such House concurrent resolutions as have passed both houses and are required to be presented to the Governor. He shall typewrite them without erasures, interlineations or additions in the margin. After they have been examined by the Committee on Enrolled Bills and found truly enrolled they shall be reported to the House for the signature of the Speaker and then transmitted to the Senate.

The Enrolling Clerk shall note the following on every enrolled bill, which notation shall constitute the certification of the Speaker of the House, the Lieutenant Governor, the Chief Clerk of the House, and the Secretary of the Senate, as applied to their respective bodies:

(1) The date of the final passage of a bill and the vote by which the bill was finally passed, if a record vote was taken. If no record vote was taken, the fact shall appear in this notation. If the bill was amended in the house other than that in which it originated this fact shall also be noted.

(2) The date of concurrence in amendments by the other house, and the vote by which the concurrence was made, shall appear as described in (1) above, or

(3) The date of the adoption of a conference committee report by both Houses, and the vote on the adoption of the report shall appear as described in (1) above.

[Each house enrolls its own bills and resolutions. All concurrent resolutions, except those relating to questions of adjournment, are enrolled and presented to the Governor for his approval.]

SEC. 7. The Reading Clerk, or his assistant shall call all the rolls of the House in the alphabetical order of the names of the Members when ordered to do so by the Speaker. He shall read all bills, resolutions, motions and other matters required by the rules or directed by the Speaker to be read. He shall remain standing while reading or calling the roll. In the event of the absence, resignation or death of the Chief Clerk, the Reading Clerk shall take charge and attend to all the duties of the office until the Chief Clerk returns or his successor is elected.

SEC. 8. Any clerk, employee or other officer of the House, other than the Speaker, who shall, directly or indirectly, attempt to influence any Member of the House in favor of or against any measure pending, or use his official position in aiding anyone to lobby for or against any measure pending, shall be subject to discharge by the Speaker on account of such misconduct. This section shall not apply when such persons are answering questions or giving information at the request of any Member of the House. Any standing committee of the House may, by a majority vote of the members present, grant any clerk, officer or employee the right to appear before such committee and make known his views on any measure pending before such committee.

SEC. 9. All clerks and stenographers shall report daily, except Sundays, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m. and from 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m., and at such other hours as the House or the committees to which they have been assigned may be in session, or as they may be directed by the Speaker. A daily record of the arrival and departures of the clerks and stenographers shall be kept by the Chief Clerk and submitted at the end of each day to the Speaker.

RULE V.*DUTIES OF THE DOORKEEPER.

SECTION 1. The Doorkeeper shall enforce strictly the rules relating to the privileges of the Hall, and when the House is under call shall permit no Member to leave the Hall without written permission from the Speaker, and he shall take up each permission card as he permits the Member to leave the Hall. He shall also take up the permission card of anyone who seeks admittance to the Bar of the House.

[When a messenger arrives at the Bar of the House, the Doorkeeper announces the messenger.

See Section 1 of Rule 28 for the list of persons entitled to the privileges of the floor when the House is in session.]

RULE VI.*DUTIES OF THE CHAPLAIN.

SECTION 1. The Chaplain shall open the commencement of each legislative day's session with prayer, and perform such other duties as the Speaker may direct.

[The first item under the daily order of business is prayer by the Chaplain, and it should not be displaced by any proposition whatever. Sometimes the House orders the prayers printed in the Journal. See Journals of the 35th and latter part of the 44th Legislatures.]

RULE VII.*DUTIES OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE HALL.

Chairman of the Committee before which he is appearing, (unless he has previously filed such a sworn statement before the Committee on Representation before the Legislature), a sworn statement showing every person, firm, corporation, class or group which he represents in appearing before such Committee. The form of such sworn statement shall be prescribed by the Committee on Representation before the Legislature, and shall provide for the names and business addresses of the person appearing before the Committee, and the person, firm, corporation, class or group represented and the type of business, profession or occupation of the person, firm, corporation, class or group represented.

When such sworn statement is filed with any committee except the Committee on Representation before the Legislature, the Chairman of the Committee before which it is filed shall deliver such sworn statement to the Committee on Representation before the Legislature, to become a part of the permanent records of said Committee.

In the event a vacancy should occur on a committee by reason of the death, resignation or removal of any Member, it shall be the duty of the Speaker to appoint a Member to fill such vacancy.

RULE IX.

ORGANIZATION, POWERS AND DUTIES OF COMMITTEES.

SECTION 1. As soon as practicable after their appointment, it shall be the duty of the chairman or the vice-chairman (to-wit, the first named member after the chairman) of the different committees to notify the Speaker in writing of the time fixed for the meeting of their respective committees, which information the Speaker shall cause to be posted in a conspicuous place in the Hall as soon as practicable. In case of the absence of the chairman or the vice-chairman, the member next named shall, with the consent of the Speaker, act as chairman.

[Under the recently adopted constitutional amendment relating to the business of the Legislature during a regular session, a period is set aside for committee work, and at the beginning of this period the committee chairmen arrange a schedule for the committee meetings. At other times committee meetings are announced in the House and notices posted on a bulletin board.]

SEC. 2. If, after due notification, the members of any committee fail to meet at the time and place designated, and it shall be evidenced that such absentees are wilfully absent for the purpose of impeding the action of the committee, the chairman shall report such matter to the House, and the committeemen so charged shall be subject to reprimand or to removal from the committee, as a majority of the members present shall decide.

SEC. 3. No committee shall sit during the time the House is in session without leave being specially given by the House.

SEC. 4. A majority of a committee shall constitute a quorum for business, and no reports shall be made to the House unless ordered by a majority of such quorum in committee assembled, except as hereinafter provided for in these rules. All committee reports shall be in writing; they must be signed by the chairman or the chairman pro tempore, and addressed to the Speaker, and shall contain a brief statement of the recommendations of the committee with reference to the measure reported. A complete list of reports, favorable or adverse, made by the committees shall be printed in the Journal.

No minority report shall be recognized by the House unless it has been signed by not less than four members of a committee consisting of twenty-one members, three members of a committee consisting of eleven members, or two members of a committee consisting of five members. Only members who were present when the vote was taken on the bill, resolution or other proposition being reported upon, and who voted on the losing side, may sign a minority report. Notice of intention to file a minority report must be given to the committee assembled at the time of the vote on the bill, resolution or other proposition.

A quorum of a committee must be present when the vote is taken on reporting a bill out of the committee.

Mr. Kenyon raised a point of order against further consideration of S. B. 3 on the ground that there was not a quorum of the Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence present when the bill was reported to the House.

The Chair, Mr. Alexander, sustained the point of order, stating his reasons as follows:

The Committee minutes in possession of the Chair show that twelve members of the Committee were present at the time of convening of the Committee on the date in question. Mr. Wood and Mr. Loggins, who are here recorded as among the twelve present at the convening, have stated to the House that they departed from the committee room before the vote was taken on reporting S. B. 3 and were therefore not present at the time of the vote. Since it is evident that only ten members were present at the time the vote was taken, the Chair is forced under the rules to declare the bill improperly reported and therefore not before the House at this time. The bill is therefore declared to be in the hands of the Committee for consideration and report. (45th Reg.)

QUORUM REQUIRED FOR COMMITTEE ACTION.—Action of a committee

is valid only when taken at a formal meeting of the committee actually assembled (C. P., VIII, 2209). Action of a committee is recognized by the House only when taken with a quorum actually assembled and meeting (C. P., VIII, 2211). Action taken by a committee in the absence of a quorum was held to be invalid when reported to the House (C. P., VIII, 2212).

SEC. 5. The report of a minority of a committee must be made in the same general form as a majority report. If the majority report on a bill is unfavorable, and a favorable minority report is not signed in accordance with Sec. 4 of this rule and then filed with the Calendar Clerk within two calendar days, exclusive of Sunday and the date of committee action, the Calendar Clerk shall file the bill away as dead; but during the last fifteen calendar days of a session the Calendar Clerk shall hold a bill only one calendar day, exclusive of Sunday and the date of committee action, awaiting the filing of a minority report before he files the bill away as dead. If the favorable minority report is properly signed and filed, the Calendar Clerk shall hold the bill five legislative days, exclusive of the legislative day the minority report was filed, awaiting the passage of a motion to print the bill on minority report. If such motion to print is carried, the bill shall be printed, and shall be placed on the calendar as if it had been reported favorably. A two-thirds vote of the House shall be required to print on minority report joint resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution. If a motion to print a bill on minority report is not made within the five legislative day period above described, the Calendar Clerk shall file the bill away as dead.

[In the Regular Session of the 45th Legislature the House ordered a bill printed on minority report. The minority report contained amendments which constituted a new bill, and, upon the suggestion of the Speaker, Mr. Calvert, the House ordered the amendments printed along with the original bill.

See Sec. 7 of Rule 19 in regard to printing bills and resolutions when reported.

See the third paragraph of Sec. 5 of Rule 19 regarding the recommittal of a bill reported adversely by a committee.]

A simple or concurrent resolution referred to a committee shall be reported directly to the Speaker if it receives a favorable majority report. If it receives an unfavorable majority report and a favorable minority report, it shall be handled in the same manner as a bill receiving a favorable minority report, except that it shall be reported to the Speaker and placed before the House in proper order only if the House by a majority vote orders it considered on minority report. Such a motion should be made under the fourth item in the daily order of business.

An adverse committee report on a bill does not prevent the consideration of a similar bill.

The House was considering a bill similar to one adversely reported to the House, when Mr. Bailey raised the point of order that a bill having the same subject had been reported adversely by Judiciary Committee No. 2, which was in effect the defeat of the bill, and that it was not now in order to pass on this bill.

Mr. Terrell of McLennan raised a point of order on consideration of the bill, and said:

"I make the point of order that this bill can not be considered at this time for the reason that House Bill No. 30, on the same subject, was adversely reported by the Committee on State Affairs, and thereby 'killed.' The Constitution, Article 3, Section 34, provides that when any measure has been defeated by either branch of the Legislature, no other bill embodying the same question shall be considered at that session. House Bill No. 30 was killed by this House, acting through its regularly constituted committee; therefore, this Senate bill is out of order and can not now be considered."

Overruled. (30th Reg.)

Not in order to recommit a bill reported adversely with no minority report.

Mr. Barker moved to reconsider the vote by which the House on last Friday refused to recommit House Bill No. 155, the bill having been reported adversely by the Committee on State Affairs.

Mr. Owen raised a point of order on the motion to reconsider on the ground that under the rules of the House it is not in order to recommit a bill which has been reported adversely by a committee, unless the passage of the bill has been recommended by a minority report of the committee.

The Speaker, Mr. Thomas, sustained the point of order. (37th Reg.)

SEC. 6. If a local bill is reported adversely, it shall be subject to the same rules as other bills reported adversely, except that it shall be placed on the calendar if specifically ordered not printed by the House.

SEC. 7. The chairman or acting chairman of each committee of the House shall keep or cause to be kept, a complete record of the proceedings in committee. This record shall show the time and place of each hearing and of each meeting of the committee, the attendance of committee members at each hearing or meeting and an accurate record of all votes taken. This record may also include such other information as the chairman may deem advisable.

The minutes of a committee are subject to correction only in committee assembled, and by the vote of a majority of the committee. Every committee hearing shall be open to the public unless otherwise determined by the House.

SEC. 8. Bills, resolutions and other papers referred to committees shall be taken up and acted upon by the committees in the order in which they are referred. All committees shall report on all bills, resolutions, and other papers.

During the first sixty-six calendar days of a regular session when any bill, resolution or other paper shall have been in committee for six calendar days, exclusive of the calendar day on which it was referred, it shall be in order for a Member to move that the committee be required to report the same immediately, which motion shall require a two-thirds vote for its passage.

After the first sixty-six calendar days of a regular session when any bill, resolution or other paper has been in committee for six calendar days, it shall be in order for a Member to move that the committee be required to report the same immediately, which motion shall require a majority vote for its passage.

When the House refuses by vote to grant further time to a committee, the Speaker shall instruct that the House desires an immediate report upon the bill or measure pending, and it shall be the duty of the committee immediately to consider and report the bill back to the House; provided, that no adverse report shall be made on any bill or resolution by any committee without first giving the author of such bill an opportunity to be heard. If it becomes evident to the House that a bill has been reported adversely without the author having had an opportunity to be heard as provided in this rule, the House may, by a majority vote, order the bill recommitted even though no minority report was filed in the time prescribed elsewhere in these rules. This rule shall have precedence over that section of Rule 19 which provides that when a bill has been reported adversely it is not in order to recommit it except by a two-thirds vote.

[Members should see that committees having their bills under consideration report them back as soon as possible. Any unusual delay in reporting a bill should be investigated, because the life of a bill is endangered when it does not take its place on the calendar at the earliest possible time.]

Motion to instruct a committee to report is not a privileged motion and must be made at the routine motion period unless made under a suspension of the rules.

While the House was considering S. B. 261 Mr. Morse moved that the Committee on Liquor Traffic be instructed to report H. B. 5 back to the House not later than Friday morning, April 2.

Mr. Johnson of Ellis raised a point of order against the motion at the time on the ground that the motion was a routine motion and not privileged, and that the routine motion period had passed.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order, whereupon the rules were suspended for the consideration of the motion by Mr. Morse. (45th Reg.)

COMMITTEE UNABLE TO AGREE.—A committee being unable to agree on a recommendation for action may submit a statement of this fact as its report (H. P., IV, 4665, 4666). Instance wherein a committee, being equally divided, reported its inability to present a proposition for action (H. P., I, 347).

SEC. 9. The reports of select committees shall be filed with the Chief Clerk and printed in the Journal, and reports of standing committees shall be listed in the Journal.

SEC. 10. The reports of standing committees shall be made in duplicate; one shall be in the Journal and the other shall accompany the original bill.

SEC. 11. It shall be the duty of the chairman of the several committees to see that the originals of all bills, resolutions, memorials, and such other documents referred to them are returned to the House, with the final report upon the matter to which they pertain.

SEC. 12. The Committee on Engrossed Bills, in addition to their duties as such, are also the Committee on Style, and it shall be their duty to see that all bills passed by the House are correct in style, orthography and punctuation.

SEC. 13. It shall be in order for the Committees on Engrossed Bills, Enrolled Bills and the Committee on Rules to report at any time.

SEC. 14. Reports of committees are advisory only. When a report is made, the proposition, bill or resolution recommended or reported back shall be before the House for its consideration, without action upon the report, in accordance with these rules.

Under instructions "to delete" certain provisions from a bill, the only power a committee has is to report amendments to that end.

During the consideration of H. B. 48 Mr. Gibson moved that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Affairs with instructions to delete all tax provisions.

Mr. Farmer raised a point of order against the motion on the ground that the motion sought, in effect, to change the original purpose of the bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, overruled the point of order, stating that the only power the committee had was to draft and recommend amendments seeking to delete the tax provisions, and that the adoption or rejection of the amendments would, of course, be entirely up to the House. (45th Reg.)

[Reports of investigating committees and certain other select committees often do not make any recommendations for action on the particular subject for which the committee was appointed, and, in such case, a motion is in order to accept the report just as a means of discharging the committee. But when a report carries certain recommendations for legislative action, that is, legislative expressions through concurrent action of the two houses, the report should be accepted and the committee discharged without action on the report itself. If legislative action is desired, action or expression should be through the proper channels, namely, a bill or concurrent resolution. The same is true as regards reports to the House recommending certain action by the House itself. Since it is not in order to amend a report, the subject matter to be acted upon should be brought before the House in a manner which would permit the House to take such action on it as it may deem proper, and not be forced to accept or reject certain matters in their entirety as presented by a committee. Such procedure would be manifestly unfair to the House.]

SEC. 15. When a simple or concurrent resolution is referred to a committee, it shall be subject to the same rules as bills with regard to adverse and favorable committee reports.

SEC. 16. No floor reports shall be made by any committee.

SEC. 17. The rules governing the proceedings of the House shall apply to the proceedings of the committee, in so far as the same are applicable.

[The most far-reaching effect of this section lies in the fact that a motion to table and a motion for the previous question, for a long time not allowed in committees, can now be made for the purpose of cutting off debate.

Final action by committees on bills and resolutions referred to them should be in the form of a favorable report, unfavorable report, or a report of inability to recommend a course of action.

No motion is in order in a committee considering a bill, resolution or other paper that would prevent the committee from reporting the same back to the House in accordance with the rules. For example, motions to table a bill, postpone consideration of it indefinitely, and to postpone consideration of it beyond the time allowed are all out of order and should be ruled out by the chairman. The House has a right to expect, and demands, that a committee report on matters referred to it.]

ADDITIONAL ANNOTATIONS ON COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEES IN VACATION.

Precedents upholding the right of the Legislature to appoint committees to act after adjournment.

[It often becomes necessary for the Legislature to appoint a committee to do some special work which of necessity must be done in vacation—that is, after a session has adjourned sine die. The opponents of these committees invariably take the position that they are not authorized, and that the Legislature has no power or right to create a committee to sit between sessions of the Legislature. They base their contentions upon Section 18, Article 3, of the State Constitution, which provides that no member of either house shall, during the time for which he is elected, be eligible to any office or place of appointment which may be made in whole or in part by the Legislature.

The precedents in point began with the Twenty-sixth Legislature. In the House there was pending a resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee to sit during recess and investigate the affairs of the State, for which members were to be paid.

Mr. Darroch raised the point of order that the House has no authority to make the appointment of this committee for the reason that Section 18, Article 3, of the Constitution, reads in part as follows: "No member of either house shall, during the term for which he is elected, be eligible to any office or place, the appointment of which may be made, in whole or in part, by either branch of the Legislature."

The Speaker held the point of order not well taken, and stated that precedent and long established custom would sustain the House in adopting such resolution if it chose to do so. (26th Reg.)

The Attorney General ruled that the Legislature had authority to provide that a committee should be composed of members of the House and Senate to act after final adjournment of the Legislature and that the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor may make such appointments during sessions of the Legislature. The opinion follows:

AUSTIN, TEXAS, March 15, 1909.

Hon. Thomas M. Campbell, Governor of Texas, Capitol:

DEAR SIR: Senate Bill No. 159, providing for the appointment of four members of the Senate and five members of the House as a committee on investigation of the penitentiaries, etc., has had my consideration. This act presents the following questions:

1. Did the Legislature have the authority to provide that this committee should be composed of members of the Senate and the House of Representatives, respectively, to act after the final adjournment of the Legislature?

2. Can such members be compensated by the Legislature as members of said committee while they are members of their respective houses?

3. Has such committee authority to make such investigation after the adjournment of the Legislature and make their report to the Governor?

4. Can the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives make the appointments required by the act during the present session of the Legislature?

The act provides for the appointment of four members of the Senate by the Lieutenant Governor and five members of the House by the Speaker, who shall constitute a committee on investigation to visit the penitentiaries at Huntsville and Rusk, respectively, and such other places as in their judgment may be necessary to the end that a thorough investigation of the penitentiary system may be made, and providing that said committee shall sit in vacation, and makes an appropriation therefor, etc.

I answer each of the above questions in the affirmative.

(Cases cited.)

My opinion is that the act is constitutional and that the committee can be appointed and can lawfully exercise the powers and discharge the duties prescribed by said act, though the Legislature may have been finally adjourned.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) R. V. DAVIDSON,
Attorney General.]

ELECTION CONTESTS.

Case where the House ordered its Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections to dismiss a contest. Points regarding matter previously disposed of also covered.

[At the opening of the Regular Session of the Forty-first Legislature, the Secretary of State filed with the House papers contesting the election to the House of W. R. Montgomery of Hidalgo county,

E. M. Smith being the contestant. The contest was immediately referred to the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections. When asked for an opinion, the Attorney General advised the chairman of this committee that a subcommittee of the main committee could not go into Hidalgo county to take testimony.

The committee then requested of the House its "instruction as to the amount, if any, you will pay to secure the attendance of witnesses in the Smith-Montgomery election contest." It was then moved "that the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections be instructed to dismiss all proceedings in the contest of Smith vs. Montgomery now pending and declare Montgomery elected upon the returns from Hidalgo county." The following point of order was then raised: "That the House cannot dismiss a contest until the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections shall have made its report on the contest." The House overruled the point of order. After refusing to adopt a substitute motion to "instruct the committee to notify contestant to present his evidence to the committee in the shortest time possible and at his expense," the original motion to dismiss the contest prevailed, 91 to 21. The motion to reconsider and table was then made and prevailed.

In accordance with the instructions of the House, the Committee reported to the House as follows:

Hon. W. S. Barron, Speaker of the House of Representatives:

We, the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections, do hereby report to you the following order passed by said committee, to-wit:

Whereas, The House adopted the following motion in the case of Smith vs. Montgomery, contest pending before this committee, to-wit: "I move that the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections be instructed to dismiss all proceedings in the contest of Smith vs. Montgomery, now pending, and declare Montgomery elected upon the returns from Hidalgo county"; now, therefore, it is Ordered by the committee, in obedience to said mandate from the House, that the contest of Smith vs. Montgomery, pending before said committee, be and the same is hereby dismissed, and that said Montgomery be declared elected upon the returns from Hidalgo county.

SINKS, Chairman.

The House adopted the report. The motion to reconsider and table was made and prevailed.

Several days later the House admitted as privileged matter a petition from citizens of Hidalgo county requesting the reopening of the Smith-Montgomery contest. After the petition was read in full the following motion was made: "That the rule of the House be suspended and that this matter be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and that said committee be instructed to proceed to hear the minutes of the contest." The motion was lost, having failed to receive the necessary two-thirds vote. It was then moved that the petition be referred to the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections. The following point of order was then made: "That the petition deals with matters which were heretofore considered by the House, and that a motion was made to reconsider the action of the House in that matter and the motion to reconsider was then tabled." There being certain constitutional points involved, the Speaker passed the point of order to the House. The House sustained the point of order 74 to 55. The motion to reconsider and table the vote by which the House sustained the point of order was made and prevailed.]

The Secretary of State swears in a Member-elect appearing with a certificate of election even though an election contest is pending for the seat.

[At the opening of the Forty-fifth Legislature, before the Members-elect were sworn in, Mr. E. E. Hunter, contesting the election of Mr. J. K. Russell as Representative from the Ninety-ninth District, presented to the Secretary of State the following communication:

AUSTIN, TEXAS, January 11, 1937.

To the Honorable Secretary of State:

I respectfully submit that I have filed and there is now pending with you for transmission to the House of Representatives, through its Speaker, a contest of the election and certificate of election of the Hon. J. K. Russell to the position of Representative of and for the 99th Representative District of Texas.

Because, and by reason of such pending contest, I object to and protest the administering of the oath of office to the said Hon. J. K. Russell to said office.

I further request that the question of whether said Hon. J. K. Russell should take the oath of office be referred along with said contest to the House of Representatives for its action to determine the qualifications and election of said Hon. J. K. Russell, and of this contestant.

E. E. HUNTER, Contestant.

The Secretary of State refused to grant the request of Mr. Hunter, having previously investigated the point in question, and having been advised as to his duty in the matter in the following communication from Mr. Scott Gaines, First Assistant Attorney General:

AUSTIN, TEXAS, January 12, 1937.

Honorable B. P. Matocha,
Secretary of Texas,
Austin, Texas.

DEAR SIR: We have your request to be advised as to whether or not upon the convening of the Forty-fifth Legislature where a contest has been filed over the validity of an election for one of the Members of the Legislature, you should, as Secretary of State, administer the oath to the contestant.

Section 8 of Article III of the Constitution of Texas reads as follows:

"Each House shall be the judge of the qualifications and election of its own members; but contested elections shall be determined in such manner as shall be provided by law."

Article 3059, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, provides for the filing of a contest over the validity of an election for Members of the Legislature, and Article 3063, R. C. S., provides that immediately after the organization of the Legislature that either the President of the Senate or the Speaker of the House, as the case may be, shall refer such contest to the Committee on Privileges and Elections of the House in which the contest is pending. Article 3064, R. C. S., provides for a hearing of the contest before the Committee and Article 3065 provides that the House in which the contest is pending shall, as soon as practicable, after the report of the Committee has been received, fix a day for the trial of the contest and shall proceed to determine whether the contestant or contestee, or either of them, is entitled to the contestant's seat, and further providing that the House may hold the election void.

Article 5423, R. C. S. of Texas, provides that those persons receiving certificates of election to the Senate and House of Representatives of the Legislature and those Senators whose terms of office shall not have terminated and none others shall be competent to organize the Senate and House of Representatives.

The pertinent part of Article 5424, Revised Civil Statutes, provides for the organization. The Secretary of State shall preside at each recurring Session of the Legislature, and Article 5424 prescribes the duties of Chief Clerk under the direction of the Secretary of State at such organization and states that the Clerk shall call all the counties in alphabetical order and that should returns of election in any county for Members of the Legislature not be made to the Office of Secretary of State, he shall nevertheless call such county. Said Article further provides in describing the duties of the Secretary of State that when the counties are called and the Members-elect present their credentials, administer to each the official oath.

Article 5426 provides that any person appearing at said call and presenting the proper evidence of his election shall be admitted or qualified in the same manner as those whose returns of his election had been made to the Office of Secretary of State.

It is the opinion of the writer that the Secretary of State, being a ministerial officer in regard to the matter of discharging his duties in connection with the organization of the Legislature as prescribed in Title 87 of the Revised Civil Statutes and said statutes prescribing that he shall administer the official oath to those persons having their certificates of election upon the organization of the Legislature, that he should administer said oath to a Member having his certificate of election regardless of whether or not a contest has been filed over the validity of the election of said Member.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) SCOTT GAINES,
First Assistant Attorney General.]

RULE X.

QUESTIONS OF PRIVILEGE.

SECTION 1. Questions of privilege shall be:

First. Those affecting the rights of the House collectively, its safety, dignity, and the integrity of its proceedings.

Second. The rights, reputation and conduct of Members individually in their representative capacity only, and shall have precedence over all other questions except motions to adjourn. When in order, a Member may address himself to a question of privilege; or at any time he may print it in the Journal, provided it contains no reflections upon any Member of the House.

It shall not be in order for a Member to address himself to a question of privilege between the time the previous question is ordered and the vote is taken on the last proposition included under the previous question, nor shall it be in order for a Member to address himself to a question of privilege after a motion to table is offered and before the vote is taken on such motion.

[Often Members, taking advantage of their right to speak to a point of personal privilege, have discussed matters which were clearly not matters "affecting the right of the House collectively, its safety, dignity and the integrity of its proceedings" or of "the rights, reputation and conduct of Members individually or in their representative capacity only." This practice is an open violation of the rules, and should not be permitted.

The rules do not give a Member the right to address himself to a question of personal privilege solely upon the plea that his "feelings are hurt."]

Members when speaking on personal privilege should confine their remarks so as to be within the rules relating to questions of privilege.

Mr. Onion obtained the floor for the purpose of speaking on personal privilege.

Mr. Duff rose to a point of order and stated that the gentleman from Bexar, Mr. Onion, under guise of personal privilege, was simply criticizing the Speaker of the House, Mr. Neff, and should not be allowed to proceed.

The Chair, Mr. Schluter, overruled the point of order, and in so doing stated that he had not listened attentively to the trend of the gentleman's remarks and was not therefore prepared to pass upon the propriety or impropriety of same.

Mr. Onion then proceeded with his statement.

Mr. Standifer raised a point of order and stated that the gentleman instead of speaking to a question of personal privilege was denouncing the Speaker of the House for the failure of a certain bill in the House, and that the gentleman should not be allowed to proceed unless he confined himself to a question of privilege.

The Chair sustained the point of order and the incident was closed. (28th Reg.)

PRIVILEGE OF THE HOUSE.—The privilege of the House, as distinguished from that of the individual Member, includes questions relating to its constitutional prerogatives, in respect to revenue legislation, etc. (H. P., II, 1480-1501); its power to punish for contempt, whether of its own Members (H. P., II, 1641-1665), of witnesses who are summoned to give information (H. P., II, 1608, 1612; H. P., III, 1666-1724), or of other persons (H. P., II, 1597-1640); questions relating to its organization (H. P., I, 22-24, 189, 212, 290), and the title of its Members to their seats (H. P., III, 2579-2587); the conduct of officers and employees (H. P., I, 284, 285; H. P., III, 2628, 2645-2647); comfort and convenience of Members and employees (H. P., III, 2629-2636); admission to the floor of the House (H. P., III, 2624-2626); the accuracy and propriety of reports in the Congressional Record (H. P., V, 7005-7023); the conduct of representatives of the press (H. P., II, 1630, 1631; H. P., III, 2627); the integrity of its Journal (H. P., II, 1363; H. P., III, 2620); the protection of its records (H. P., III, 2659); the accuracy of its documents (H. P., V, 7329) and messages (H. P., III, 2613); and the integrity of the processes by which bills are considered (H. P., III, 2597-2601, 2614; H. P., IV, 3383, 3388, 3478).

PRIVILEGE OF THE MEMBER.—The privilege of the Member rests primarily on the Constitution, which gives him a conditional immunity from arrest, etc. (H. P., III, 2670). A menace to the personal safety of Members from an insecure ceiling in the Hall was held to involve a question of the highest privilege (H. P., III, 2685). Charges against the conduct of a Member are held to involve privilege when they relate to his representative capacity (H. P., III, 1828-1830, 2716). A distinction has been drawn between charges made by one Member against another in a newspaper and the same when made on the floor (H. P., III, 1827, 2691, 2717). Charges made in newspapers against Members in their representative capacities involve privilege (H. P., III, 1832, 2694, 2696-2699, 2703, 2704), even though the names of the individual Members be not given (H. P., III, 1831, 2705, 2709). But vague charges in newspaper articles (H. P., III, 2711), criticisms (H. P., III, 2712-2714), or even misrepresentations of the Members' acts or speeches have not been entertained (H. P., III, 2707, 2708). A Member making a statement in a matter of personal privilege should confine his remarks to that which concerns himself personally (H. P., V, 5078). While a Member rising to a question of personal privilege may be allowed some latitude, yet the rule requiring a Member to confine himself to the subject holds in this case (H. P., V, 5075, 5076).

PRECEDENCE OF QUESTIONS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.—A Member rising to a question of personal privilege may not interrupt a call of the yeas and nays (H. P., V, 6051, 6052, 6058, 6059) or take from the floor another Member who has been recognized for debate (H. P., V, 5002), but he may interrupt the ordinary legislative business (H. P., III, 2531).

RULE XI.

DECORUM AND DEBATE.

SECTION 1. When any Member desires to speak or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker" and, on being recognized, may address the House from any place on the floor, or from the Clerk's desk, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, avoiding personalities.

SEC. 1-a. No male Member of the House shall be recognized by the Speaker to address the House unless said Member has on a tie and coat.

GENERAL RULES.—It is a general rule that a motion must be made before a Member may proceed in debate (H. P., V, 4984, 4985). A motion must also be stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk before debate may begin (H. P., V, 4982, 4983, 5304). In addressing the House, the Member should also address the Chair (H. P., V, 4980). A Member having the floor may not be taken off his feet by an ordinary motion, even the highly privileged motion to adjourn (H. P., V, 5369, 5370). A Member may not yield to another to offer an amendment without losing the floor (H. P., V, 5021, 5030, 5031). A Member desiring to interrupt another in debate should address the Chairman for permission of the Member speaking (H. P., V, 5006), but the latter may exercise his own discretion as to whether or not he will yield (H. P., V, 5007, 5008). It is entirely within the discretion of the Member occupying the floor in debate to determine when and by whom he shall be interrupted (C. P., VIII, 2467). It is a breach of order for Members from their seats to interject remarks into the speech of a Member having the floor (C. P., VIII, 2463). It has always been held, and generally quite strictly, that in the House a Member must confine himself to the subject under debate (H. P., V, 5043-5048). In general, on a motion to amend the debate is confined to the amendment and may not include the general merits of the bill (H. P., V, 5049-5051). While the Senate may be referred to properly in debate, it is not in order to discuss its functions or criticise its acts (H. P., V, 5114-5120). It is not in order in debate to refer to a Senator in terms of personal criticism (H. P., V, 5121, 5122). It is not in order in debate for a Member to impugn the motives or criticise the actions of Members of the Senate (C. P., VIII, 2520). It is not in order in debate to cast reflection on either the House or its membership or its decisions, whether past or present (H. P., V, 5132-5138).

SEC. 2. When two or more Members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall name the one who is first to speak, and his decision shall be final and not open to debate or appeal.

[There is no appeal from the Speaker's recognition, but he is governed by rules and usage in priority of entertaining motions from the floor, and for this reason he may ask, when a Member seeks recognition, "For what purpose does the gentleman from —— rise?" or "For what purpose does the gentleman from —— seek recognition?" See "Decisions of the Speaker" following Sec. 7 of Rule I.

In recognition for general debate, the Speaker's rule is to alternate between those favoring and those opposing a measure.]

SEC. 3. The mover of any proposition, or the Member reporting any measure from a committee, as the case may be, or, in case of absence of either of them, then any other Member designated by such absentee shall have the right of opening and closing the debate thereon, and for this purpose may speak each time not to exceed twenty minutes.

[By the mover of a proposition is meant the mover of the original proposition before the House for consideration. In case of a bill being considered, the Member having the bill in charge is the mover of the proposition.

Since an amendment to strike out the enacting clause of a bill if adopted has the effect of killing the bill, it opens for debate the merits of the entire bill.]

LOSS OF RIGHT TO PRIOR RECOGNITION.—When an essential motion made by the Member in charge of the bill is decided adversely, the right to prior recognition passes to the Member leading the opposition (H. P., II, 1465-1468), but the mere defeat of an amendment proposed by the Member in charge does not cause prior right of recognition to pass to the opponents (H. P., II, 1478, 1479).

SEC. 4. No Member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the House, nor more than once until every Member choosing to speak shall have spoken; nor shall any Member be permitted to consume the time of another Member without leave of the House being given by a majority vote.

[Even though the previous question has been ordered, it is in order for the House to vote as to whether or not it will permit a Member who has a right to speak under the previous question to yield his time, or part of his time, to another Member as allowed under this section. Likewise, a vote on an extension of time for a Member speaking under the previous question is permitted. Such votes, however, should be taken without debate as provided in Section 3 of Rule 14.]

MEMBER SPEAKING MORE THAN ONCE.—A Member who has spoken once on the main question may speak again on an amendment (H. P., V, 4993, 4994). It is too late to make the point that a Member has spoken already if no one claims the floor until he has made some progress in his speech (H. P., V, 4992).

SEC. 5. If a pending question is not disposed of, owing to an adjournment of the House, no Member who has spoken twice on the subject shall be allowed to speak again without leave.

SEC. 6. All speeches shall be limited to ten minutes in duration, except as provided in Section 3 of this rule, and the Speaker shall call the Members to order at the expiration of their time; provided, however, that in case the House by a vote extends the time of any Member, such time shall not be extended exceeding ten minutes additional without the unanimous consent of the House; and provided further, that during the last ten calendar days of the Regular Session, and the last five calendar days of any Special Session, all speeches shall be limited to ten minutes and shall not be extended without the unanimous consent of the House, and in no case shall the time be extended for a longer period than five minutes.

SEC. 7. If any Member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the Rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any Member may, call him to order, in which case the Member so called to order, shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case, but without debate. If the decision be in favor of the Member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if the decision be against him, and the case requires it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House, or such other punishment as the House may deem proper.

SEC. 8. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to by any Member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House without debate.

SEC. 9. All Members having the right to speak after the previous question has been ordered shall speak before the question is put upon the first proposition covered by the previous question. All votes shall then be taken in the correct order, and no vote or votes shall be deferred to allow any Member to close on any one of the propositions separately after the voting has commenced.

RULE XII.

ON VOTING.

SECTION 1. A registration or vote taken upon the voting machine of the House shall in all instances be considered the equivalent of a roll call or yea and nay vote, which might be had for the same purpose.

SEC. 2. Any Member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the House shall disclose the fact and not vote thereon. (See Const., Art. 3, Sec. 22.)

[This is a constitutional provision embodied in the Rules of the House, with which each Member is left to comply according to his own judgment as to what constitutes a personal or private interest.]

PERSONAL INTEREST.—In one or two instances the Speaker has decided that, because of personal interest, a Member should not vote (H. P., V, 5955, 5958); but usually the Speaker has held that the Member himself should determine this question (H. P., V, 5950, 5951), and one Speaker denied his own power to deprive a Member of the constitutional right to vote (H. P., V, 5956). It has been held that the disqualifying interest must be such as affects the Member directly (H. P., V, 5954, 5955, 5963), and not as one of a class (H. P., V, 5952; C. P., VIII, 3072).

SEC. 3. Every Member who is in the House when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the House, for reasons assigned, shall excuse him. Any Member who is present and shall fail or refuse to vote after being requested to do so by the Speaker shall be recorded as present but not voting, and shall be counted for the purpose of making a quorum.

RIGHT OF MEMBERS TO VOTE.—It has been found impracticable to enforce the provision requiring every Member to vote (H. P., V, 5942-5948), and the weight of authority also favors the idea that there is no authority in the House to deprive a Member of his right to vote (H. P., V, 5937, 5952, 5959, 5966, 5967).

SEC. 4. No Member shall be allowed to make any explanation of a vote he is about to give, or ask to be excused from voting, after the machine has been opened, but may record in the Journal reasons for giving such vote.

[The "reasons for vote" should be in writing and should be filed with the Journal Clerk immediately after the vote.]

SEC. 5. The yeas and nays of the Members of the House on any question shall, at the desire of any three Members present, be taken and entered in the Journal, provided this demand is made before a division vote has been registered on the voting machine. No Member or Members shall be allowed to call for a yea and nay vote after the vote has been declared by the Speaker.

[Motions to expunge a yea and nay vote from the Journal have uniformly been held out of order because of the constitutional provision that a record vote shall be taken upon the demand of three Members.]

CHANGES AND CORRECTIONS OF VOTES.—Before the result of a vote has been finally and conclusively pronounced by the Chair, but not thereafter, a Member may change his vote (H. P., V, 5931-5933, 6093, 6094); and a Member who has answered "present" may change it to "yea" or "nay" (H. P., V, 6060).

INTERRUPTIONS OF THE ROLL CALL.—When once begun the roll call may not be interrupted by a motion to adjourn (H. P., V, 6053), a parliamentary inquiry, a question of personal privilege (H. P., V, 6058, 6059), the arrival of the time fixed for another order of business (H. P., V, 6056), or for a recess (H. P., V, 6054, 6055), or the presentation of a conference report (H. P., V, 6443).

SEC. 6. While a yea and nay vote is being taken, or the vote is being counted, no Member shall visit the Reading Clerk's table or call out from his seat or the floor how to vote.

SEC. 7. On the demand of any Member, before the question is put, the question shall be divided, if it includes propositions so distinct in substance that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition remains.

DIVISION OF THE QUESTION.—After the question has been put it may not be divided (H. P., V, 6162), nor after the yeas and nays have been ordered (H. P., V, 6160, 6161), but it may be demanded after the previous question has been ordered (H. P., V, 5468, 6149). The principle that there must be at least two substantive propositions in order to satisfy a division is insisted on rigidly (H. P., V, 6108-6113). In passing on a demand for a division, the Chair considers only substantive propositions and not the merits of the questions presented (H. P., V, 6122). It seems to be most proper, also, that the division should depend upon grammatical structure rather than on legislative propositions involved (H. P., I, 394; H. P., V, 6119). Although a question presents two propositions grammatically it is not divisible if either does not constitute a substantive proposition when considered alone (C. P., VIII, 3165). Decisions have been made that a resolution affecting two individuals may be divided, although such division may involve a reconstruction of the text (H. P., I, 623; H. P., V, 6119-6121). The better practice seems to be, however, that this reconstruction of the text should be made by the adoption of a substitute of two branches, rather than by interpretation of the Chair (H. P., II, 1621). When a motion is made to lay several connected propositions on the table, a division is not in order (H. P., V, 6138-6140). On a decision of the Speaker involving two distinct questions, there may be a division on appeal (H. P., V, 6157).

SEC. 8. All pairs must be announced before a vote is announced, and a written statement thereof sent to the Journal Clerk. The statement must be signed by both Members seeking to pair. Such pairs shall be entered on the Journal and the Member present shall be counted to make a quorum.

[Since a pair represents a private agreement between two Members, the House has no control whatever over it except as provided in the above section. Where two Members are "paired" on a vote or series of votes, the Member present agrees with a Member who is to be absent that the Member present will not vote, but will be "present and not voting." The Member present is counted to make a quorum. Such an arrangement is, obviously, chiefly advantageous to the Member who is absent, although this is not always the case.

It is often fatal to a proposed constitutional amendment for some of its proponents to pair with Members opposing it, since joint resolutions must receive a two-thirds vote of the membership.

At one time the point of order was raised that while pairs could be accepted on a vote on a proposed constitutional amendment, the present "aye" votes should be counted, but the Speaker and the House held to the contrary because a Member cannot be compelled to vote if he does not so desire.

Printed or mimeographed pair blanks are usually available for the use of Members.]

Ruling on validity of pairs not signed by both parties.

On a motion to table an amendment to H. B. 102 the Speaker announced the result, which showed four pairs.

Mr. Prescott raised a point of order against any pair not signed by both parties, as required in Sec. 8 of Rule 12.

Upon investigation, the Speaker, Mr. Calvert, held in order all pairs signed by both parties, as required by the rule, and also admitted those not signed personally but which were authorized to be signed by written or telegraphic communications presented as evidence. (45th Reg.)

PAIRS.—Pairs may not be announced at a time other than that prescribed by the rule (H. P., V, 6046). The House does not consider questions arising out of the breaking of a pair (H. P., V, 5982, 5983, 6095), or permit a Member to vote after the call on a plea that he had refrained because of a misunderstanding as to a pair (H. P., V, 6080, 6081). On a question requiring a two-thirds vote two Members favoring the affirmative are paired with one Member favoring the negative (C. P., VIII, 3082). (See Congressional Record, Aug. 27, 1918, p. 9583, for Speaker Clark's interpretation of the rule and practice of the House of Representatives as to pairs.)

SEC. 9. When the result of a yea and nay vote is close, the Speaker may, upon the request of any Member, order a verification of the vote. During such verification, no Member shall change his vote unless it was erroneously recorded, nor may any Member not having voted cast a vote. A verification should be called for immediately after a vote is announced. The Speaker shall not entertain a request for a verification after the House has proceeded to the next question, or after a recess or an adjournment.

[Because of certain situations arising from the use of the voting machine, the Speaker often allows the verification of a vote for the purpose of determining whether or not a quorum is present.]

Motion for a call of the House is in order pending the verification of a vote.

The verification of a vote had been requested and the Speaker had granted the request. While the Clerk was preparing to verify the vote Mr. Wood moved a call of the House.

Mr. Mays raised a point of order against the motion for the call of the House on the ground that it is not in order pending a verification.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, overruled the point of order, whereupon the call was seconded and ordered. (45th Reg.)

ERRORS IN RESULT OF VOTE.—Where, by an error of the Clerk in reporting the yeas and nays, the Speaker announces a result different from that shown by the roll the status of the question must be determined by the vote as actually recorded (H. P., V, 6085). A vote having been erroneously announced in such a way as to change the true result, subsequent proceedings in connection therewith fall, and the Journal is amended accordingly (H. P., V, 6086-6088). All related proceedings subsequent to the announcement of an erroneous result fall, the vote to reconsider and lay on the table not excepted (H. P., V, 6089). In case of error, where the correction leaves decisive effect to the Speaker's vote, he may exercise his right even though the result has been announced (H. P., V, 5970).

RULE XIII.

OF MOTIONS.

SECTION 1. Every motion made to the House and entertained by the Speaker shall be reduced to writing on the demand of any Member, and shall be entered on the Journal, with the name of the Member making it, unless it is withdrawn the same calendar day.

SEC. 2. When a motion has been made, the Speaker shall state it, or, if it be in writing, cause it to be read by the Clerk before debating; and it shall then be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment, unless the previous question has been ordered, in which case the motion can only be withdrawn by unanimous consent.

WITHDRAWAL OF MOTIONS.—A motion may be withdrawn although an amendment may have been offered and be pending (H. P., V, 5347). A “decision” which prevents withdrawal of a motion may consist of the ordering of the previous question, or the refusal to lay on the table (H. P., V, 5351, 5352). A Member having a right to withdraw a motion before a decision thereon has the resulting power to modify it (H. P., V, 5358). A motion being withdrawn, all proceedings on an appeal arising from a point of order related to it fell thereby (H. P., V, 5356).

SEC. 3. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but:

- (1) To fix the day to which the House shall adjourn.
- (2) To adjourn.
- (3) To take recess.
- (4) To lay on the table.
- (5) That a proposition lie on the table subject to call.
- (6) For the previous question.
- (7) To postpone to a day certain.
- (8) To commit or to refer.
- (9) To amend.
- (10) To postpone indefinitely.

Which motions shall have precedence in the above order. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence over a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered as an equivalent to the rejection of the bill.

[See Sec. 8 of Rule 20, relating to an amendment striking out an enacting clause, and precedents following.]

Not in order to postpone indefinitely a matter not before the House unless under a motion to suspend the rules.

The House was considering a simple resolution. Mr. Thornton raised the point of order that one of the resolving clauses sought, without a direct suspension of the rules, to postpone indefinitely consideration of a bill which was not before the House and was therefore out of order.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order and ruled out of order the resolving clause in question, which left, however, other substantive propositions. (45th Reg.)

SEC. 4. A motion to adjourn and a motion to fix a day to which the House shall adjourn shall always be in order, except (1) when the previous question has been ordered and before the final vote on the main question, unless the roll call shall have developed the absence of a quorum; (2) when a Member entitled to the floor has not yielded for the purpose; (3) when no business has been transacted since a motion to adjourn has been defeated.

Business must intervene between motions to recess.

Mr. Brown of Wharton moved that the House take a recess to 8 p. m. today.

Mr. Love of Williamson raised a point of order on the motion to take a recess, contending that it should not be put, on the ground that no business had been transacted since a similar motion had been rejected by the House.

Sustained. (30th Reg.)

Held that speaking is "business."

Mr. Jenkins resumed the floor, addressing the House on the amendments pending to House Bill No. 20.

Pending the address of Mr. Jenkins, he yielding the floor, Mr. Peeler moved that the House take a recess to 8 p. m. today, whereupon

Mr. Mears raised a point of order on the motion to take a recess, on the ground that it should not be entertained for the reason that no business had been transacted since a similar motion had been rejected by the House.

Overruled. (30th Reg.)

The House may adjourn from Saturday to Monday without a quorum.

The House met at 10 o'clock a. m., pursuant to adjournment, and was called to order by Mr. Sanders. The roll was called, and the Chair announced that there was not a quorum present.

Mr. Tillotson moved that the House adjourn until 10 o'clock a. m. next Monday.

The motion of Mr. Tillotson prevailed, and the House, accordingly, at 10:04 o'clock a. m., adjourned until 10 o'clock a. m. Monday. (41st, 2nd C. S.)

[This is in accord with the long established practice of the House. The following opinion covers the point:

OFFICES OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,
AUSTIN, TEXAS, July 5, 1929.

Hon. B. J. Forbes, House of Representatives, Capitol.

DEAR SIR: This is in response to your oral request for a construction of Section 10, Article 3, of the Constitution of Texas. In this connection you desire our opinion as to whether a smaller number than a quorum of the House may adjourn from Saturday until Monday, passing over a meeting on Sunday.

It is a custom of the legislative bodies of this State to hold no session on Sunday. Our statutes provide that no person shall labor on Sunday except in certain necessitous works. The Supreme Court of Missouri, in the case of Lynch vs. Donnell, 15 S. W. 927, held that the expression "from day to day," as used in the statutes of Missouri, applying to tax sales, should be construed to carry as its usual and ordinary meaning the power of passing over and skipping a legal holiday. We, therefore, conclude, and you are advised, that the expression "from day to day," as used in the constitutional provision above cited, should be construed to give to a smaller number of the members of the House than a quorum the right to adjourn from Saturday until the next succeeding Monday without the necessity of holding a session on the intervening Sunday.

Yours very truly,

W. DEWEY LAWRENCE,
Assistant Attorney General.]

THE MOTION TO ADJOURN.—While the motion to adjourn takes precedence of other motions, yet it may not be put while the House is voting on another motion or while a Member has the floor in debate (H. P., V, 5360). A motion to adjourn may not interrupt the call of the yeas and nays (H. P., V, 6053). There must be intervening business before a motion to adjourn may be repeated (H. P., V, 5373), and such "business" may be debate (H. P., V, 5374), a decision of the Chair on a question of order (H. P., V, 5378), reception of a message (H. P., V, 5375), [or the making of recognized motions]. It is not in order to preface a motion to adjourn with preamble or argument touching reason or purpose of the proposed adjournment (C. P., VIII, 2647).

A smaller number than a quorum may adjourn from day to day and compel the attendance of absent Members (H. P., IV, 2980). A motion to reconsider a vote whereby the House has refused to adjourn is not in order (H. P., 5620-5622).

A concurrent resolution providing for an adjournment of the two houses for more than three days is privileged (H. P., V, 6680). The constitutional adjournment of "more than three days" must take into the count either the day of adjourning or the day of meeting (H. P., V, 6673, 6674).

After the motion to adjourn is made, neither another motion nor an appeal may intervene before the taking of the vote (H. P., V, 5361).

SEC. 5. When several motions to recess or adjourn are made at the same period, the motion to adjourn carrying the shortest time shall be put first, and in that order until a motion to adjourn has been adopted or all voted on, and then the same procedure shall be followed for motions to recess.

SEC. 6. When motions are made for the reference of a subject to a select or standing committee, the question for the reference to a standing committee shall be put first.

A motion to recommit defeated at the routine motion period may again be made at a later stage of the bill.

H. B. 48 was before the House on second reading. Mr. Tarwater moved that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Affairs.

Mr. Reed of Bowie raised a point of order against the motion on the ground that the same motion had been defeated at the routine motion period.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, overruled the point of order, holding that the bill had reached a different stage. (45th Reg.)

THE MOTIONS TO REFER AND RECOMMIT.—The simple motion to refer is debatable within narrow limits (H. P., V, 5054), but the merits of the proposition which it is proposed to refer may not be brought into the debate (H. P., V, 5564-5568). The motion to refer with instructions is debatable (H. P., V, 5561).

When a bill is recommitted it is before the committee as a new subject (H. P., IV, 4557; H. P., V, 5558).

A motion to re-refer a bill is not a suspension of rules.

Mr. Piner moved that H. B. No. 489 be withdrawn from the Committee on Insurance and referred to the Committee on Labor. The motion prevailed on a viva voce vote.

Mr. Colquitt raised the point of order that a motion to re-refer is a suspension of the rules and therefore takes a two-thirds vote.

The Speaker, Mr. Morse, overruled the point of order. (46th Reg.)

A motion to re-refer a bill is in order even though same may be under consideration by a sub-committee.

Mr. Wood moved as a substitute motion that H. B. 126 be withdrawn from the Committee on Revenue and Taxation and referred to Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. Mays raised a point of order against the motion on the ground that a bill being considered in sub-committee may not be re-referred by action of the House.

The Speaker, Mr. Morse, overruled the point of order. (46th Reg.)

SEC. 7. The motion to lay upon the table, if carried, shall have the effect of killing the bill, resolution, amendment or other immediate proposition tabled, and shall not be debatable, but the mover of the proposition proposed to be tabled, or the Member reporting it from a committee, shall be allowed to close the debate thereon after the motion to table is made, and before it is put. The vote by which the motion to table is carried or lost cannot be reconsidered. The provisions of this section do not apply to motions to "Lay upon the table subject to call."

[When a motion to table is made to a debatable main motion, the main motion mover is allowed twenty minutes to close the debate, whereas the movers of other debatable motions sought to be tabled are allowed only ten minutes to close.]

THE MOTION TO LAY ON THE TABLE.—The motion to lay on the table is used in the House for a final, adverse disposition of a matter without debate (H. P., V, 5389). It has the precedence given in the rule but may not be made after the previous question is ordered (H. P., V, 5415-5422). When a bill is laid on the table, pending motions connected therewith go to the table also (H. P., V, 5426, 5427). The motion to table may not be amended (H. P., V, 5754) or applied to motions for the previous question (H. P., V, 5410-5411), or to suspend the rules (H. P., V, 5405).

The motion to lay on the table may be repeated after intervening business (H. P., V, 5398-5400); but the ordering of the previous question (H. P., V, 5709), a call of the House (H. P., V, 5401), or a decision of a question of order have been held not to be such intervening business, it being essential that the pending matter be carried to a new stage in order to permit a repetition of the motion (H. P., V, 5709).

SEC. 8. A bill or proposition postponed to a day certain shall be laid before the House at the time and on the legislative day to which it was postponed, unless other business be then pending; in which case its consideration shall be deferred until the pending business is disposed of without other prejudice to its right of priority.

[A privileged motion, e. g., one to concur in Senate amendments to a House bill, may be postponed to a particular time, and, when that time arrives, the motion, still retaining its privileged nature, is taken up even though another matter be pending. One privileged motion can not be taken up while another privileged motion is pending.]

THE MOTIONS TO POSTPONE.—The motions to postpone must apply to the whole and not a part of the pending proposition (H. P., V, 5306). The motion to postpone to a day certain may be amended (H. P., V, 5754). It is debatable within narrow limits only (H. P., V, 5309, 5310), the merits of the proposition to which it is applied not being within those limits (H. P., V, 5311-5315; C. P., VIII, 2640).

The motion to postpone indefinitely opens to debate all the merits of the proposition to which it is applied (H. P., V, 5316). It may not be applied to the motion to refer (H. P., V, 5317), or to suspend the rules (H. P., V, 5316).

SEC. 9. The following motions shall be decided without debate:

- (1) To adjourn.
- (2) To fix the day to which the House shall adjourn.
- (3) To lay on the table.

(4) That a proposition lie upon the table subject to call.

(5) For the previous question.

(6) To suspend the regular order of business and take up some measure out of its regular order.

(7) To suspend the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days.

SEC. 10. When a bill, resolution or other matter is pending before the House it may be laid on the table subject to call, and one legislative day's notice must be given before the proposition can be taken from the table, unless it be on the same legislative day, in which case it can be taken from the table at any time except when there is another matter pending before the House. A bill, resolution or other matter can be taken from the table only by a majority vote of the House.

["Pending before the House" means the matter then under consideration by the House, i. e., the pending business. If the "one legislative day's notice" as required in the above section has been given, and for any reason the Member making the motion does not get an opportunity during that legislative day to move to take the matter from the table, the notice must be repeated so as to give the legislative day's notice. This is necessary to keep the House on notice as to when the particular bill or resolution is to be considered.

The motion to take up a bill or resolution on the table subject to call is decided without debate.]

With a special order pending, a motion to take a proposition from the table can not be made unless such proposition is of a privileged nature.

Mr. Mathis moved to take up, for consideration at this time, House Bill No. 122, which bill had heretofore been laid on the table subject to call.

Mr. Moffett raised a point of order on further consideration of the motion by Mr. Mathis, on the ground that under the Rules of the House the motion is out of order since there is a special order pending.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, sustained the point of order. (43rd Reg.)

RULE XIV.

OF THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

SECTION 1. There shall be a motion for the previous question, which shall be admitted only when seconded by twenty-five Members. It shall be put by the Chair in this manner: "The motion has been seconded. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question on (here state on what question or questions) will say 'Aye'," and then, "As many as are opposed say 'Nay'." As in all other propositions a motion for the previous question may be taken by a record vote. If ordered by a majority of the Members voting, a quorum being present, it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions upon which it has been asked and ordered.

SEC. 2. The previous question may be asked and ordered upon any debatable single motion, or series of motions, allowable under the rules, or an amendment or amendments pending, or may be made to embrace all authorized debatable motions or amendments pending, and include the bill, resolution or other proposition to its passage or rejection. It may be applied to motions to postpone to a day certain, or indefinitely, or to commit, and cannot be laid upon the table.

[There is no acceptable substitute for a motion for the previous question.]

An inspection of Sec. 3 of Rule 13, in regard to the precedence of motions, will show that a motion to table takes precedence over a motion for the previous question when those motions are applied to the same motion, and, therefore, when a motion to table a motion is pending, the previous question could not be moved on that motion. But it has been held, for example, that in case an amendment to a main motion is pending and a motion to table the amendment is made, it is in order to move the previous question on the main motion, the pending amendment, and even on the motion to table the amendment. Of course, if a motion to table is made directly to a main motion, then the motion for the previous question would be out of order.]

The fact that there has not been a complete discussion of a matter does not prevent the acceptance of a motion for the previous question, provided there has been some discussion on the bill.

Mr. Jones of Atascosa moved the previous question on House Bill No. 365 and the pending committee amendment.

Mr. Pope raised the point of order that such motion was out of order, under the provisions of the Constitution, because there had not been full and free discussion on the bill and amendment.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, overruled the point of order, holding that since there had been some discussion on the bill and amendment, the motion was in order, but if there had been no discussion whatsoever on the bill or amendment the motion would be clearly out of order. (44th Reg.)

[This ruling is in agreement with a long line of rulings on the same subject.]

The previous question does not extend beyond the final vote on a motion or sequence of motions.

A bill was passed under the previous question. The vote by which it passed was reconsidered, and, pending the vote after reconsideration, a motion was made to adjourn.

Mr. Brelsford raised a point of order on the motion to adjourn, stating that the House is acting under the previous question since reconsideration had prevailed, and that it is not in order to entertain a motion to adjourn under the previous question.

The Chair overruled the point of order, stating that the previous question extended no further than the vote on the final passage of the bill, and could not operate on a motion subsequently made. (29th Reg.)

Amendments on the Speaker's table for consideration which have not actually been laid before the House and read can not be included under a motion for the previous question.

Mr. Prescott moved the previous question "on the amendments on the Speaker's stand and the engrossment of H. B. 4."

Mr. Morse raised the point of order that since the amendments referred to had not actually been laid before the House and read, they had no official standing and could not, therefore, be included under the motion for the previous question.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

The House having ordered the consideration of the appropriation bill by departments, the previous question could not be ordered on the engrossment of the bill without reconsidering the order or completing the consideration of the sections of the bill.

During the consideration of an appropriation bill the House had ordered that it be considered by departments, and, while the House was considering the public health and vital statistics division, Mr. Dodd moved the previous question on the engrossment of the bill.

Mr. Rice raised a point of order on the motion, on the ground that the House had passed an order to consider the bill by departments, and that said order must first be reconsidered.

Sustained. (29th, 1st C. S.)

Not in order to move the previous question on a main motion to the exclusion of a pending subsidiary motion.

H. B. 6 was under consideration with an amendment pending. Mr. Sharpe moved the previous question on the final passage of the bill [with the idea of avoiding a vote on the pending amendment].

Mr. Morse raised a point of order against the motion on the ground that the motion must also include the pending amendment.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.) [This is in accord with Congressional practice.]

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.—The motion may not include a provision that it shall take effect at a certain time (H. P., V, 5457). It is often ordered on undebatable propositions to prevent amendments (H. P., V, 5473, 5490), but may not be moved on a motion that is both undebatable and unamendable (H. P., IV, 3077). It applies to questions of privilege as to other questions (H. P., II, 1256; H. P., V, 5459, 5460).

SEC. 3. On the motion for the previous question there shall be no debate; and all incidental questions of order after it is made, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

SEC. 4. After the previous question has been ordered, there shall be no debate upon the questions on which it has been ordered, or upon incidental questions, except that the mover of the proposition or any of the pending amendments, or the Member making the report from the committee, as the case may be, or, in the case of the absence of either of them, any other Member designated by such absentee, shall have the right to close the debate, after which a vote shall be taken immediately on the amendments, if any there were, and then on the main question.

[If an amendment has been substituted and the previous question is then moved on the adoption of the amendment as substituted, and perhaps other pending motions, the author of the amendment as substituted has the right to close the debate on that motion since the substitute has been selected over the amendment.]

SEC. 5. When the previous question is ordered on a motion to postpone indefinitely or to amend by striking out the enacting clause of a bill, the Member moving to postpone or amend shall have the right to close the debate on his motion or amendment, after which the mover of the proposition or bill proposed to be so postponed or amended, or the Member reporting same from the committee, as the case may be, or, in the case of the absence of either of them, any other Member designated by such absentee shall be allowed to close the debate on the original proposition.

SEC. 6. No motion for an adjournment or recess shall be in order, after the previous question is ordered, until the final vote upon the main question shall be taken, unless the roll call shows the absence of a quorum.

[In the event the previous question has been ordered, and on a vote the lack of a quorum develops, a motion to adjourn or a motion for a call of the House is in order. If the House adjourns, the whole matter under consideration is picked up just where it was left off, the previous question still being in effect, as provided in Sec. 8 below.]

Motion to suspend the rules is in order any time, even when the House is operating under the previous question.

While the previous question was in operation, Mr. Wells made a motion to suspend Sections 6 and 8, Rule 14, so as to make a motion to recess or adjourn.

Mr. Morse raised a point of order on the motion to suspend the rules while the previous question was on, because it violates Section 8 of Rule 14.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, overruled the point of order. (44th Reg.)

SEC. 7. A call of the House may be moved after the previous question has been ordered.

SEC. 8. After the previous question has been ordered, no motion shall be in order until the question or questions on which it was ordered have been voted upon, except the motion for the call of the House, or motions incidental thereto, and the motion to reconsider the vote by which the previous question was ordered, and this motion to reconsider may be made only once, and that must be before any vote under the previous question has been taken.

When the House adjourns without a quorum under the previous question, the previous question shall remain in force and effect when the bill is again laid before the House.

[A vote on an extension of time for a Member speaking under the previous question is permitted. Also verifications of votes are allowed under the previous question.]

RULE XV.

OF RECONSIDERATION.

SECTION 1. When a question has been decided by the House, any Member voting with the prevailing side may, on the same legislative day or on the next legislative day, move a reconsideration before the order of the day is taken up; and if the House shall refuse to reconsider, or upon reconsideration, affirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order unless by unanimous consent. Every motion to reconsider shall be decided by a majority vote, and may be laid upon the table without affecting the question in reference to which the motion to reconsider is made. A motion to table the motion to reconsider, if carried, shall be a final disposition of the motion.

[The "order of the day" referred to in the above rule means the order of disposing of the business on the Speaker's table, that is, the seventh main item under the order of business, and not the entire daily order of business as set forth in Rule 22, of which "Prayer by the Chaplain" is the first item.]

Member not present when the vote was taken can not move to reconsider.

Mr. Farmer moved to reconsider the vote by which the House concurred in Senate amendments to House Bill No. 416.

Mr. Smith made the point of order on the motion to reconsider on the ground that the record showed Mr. Farmer was absent when the vote was taken, and therefore, under the rules, he could not make the motion.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, sustained the point of order. (44th Reg.)

THE MOTION TO RECONSIDER.—The provision of the rule that the motion may be made "by any Member of the majority" is construed to mean any Member of the prevailing side, be the vote a tie vote or one requiring two-thirds (H. P., V, 5615, 5616, 5617, 5618; H. P., II, 1656). Where the yeas and nays have not been called for and recorded, any Member, irrespective of whether he voted on the prevailing side or not, may make the motion to reconsider (H. P., V, 5611-5613, 5689); but a Member who was absent (H. P., V, 5619), or who was paired in favor of the majority contention and, therefore, did not vote, may not make the motion (H. P., V, 5614).

While the motion has high privilege for entry, it may not be considered while another question is before the House (H. P., V, 5673-5676). The motion may not be applied to negative votes on motions to adjourn or recess (H. P., V, 5620-5622, 5625). It is in order to reconsider a vote postponing a bill to a day certain (H. P., V, 5643); but not to reconsider a negative decision on a vote to suspend the rules (H. P., V, 5645, 5646).

When the motion to reconsider is decided in the affirmative the question immediately recurs on the question reconsidered (H. P., V, 5703). The motion to reconsider is agreed to by a majority vote, even when the vote reconsidered requires a two-thirds for affirmative action (H. P., II, 1656; H. P., V, 5617, 5618). After passage of a bill, reconsideration of the vote on any amendment thereto may be secured only by a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed. (C. P., VIII, 2789.)

The motion to reconsider may not be applied to the vote whereby the House has laid another motion to reconsider on the table (H. P., V, 5632, 5640). A motion to reconsider is not debatable if the motion proposed to be reconsidered was not debatable (H. P., V, 5694-5699). A request for unanimous consent is in effect a motion and action predicated thereon is subject to reconsideration. (C. P., VIII, 2794.)

Motion to reconsider is subject to postponement.

A motion to reconsider the vote by which H. J. R. No. 16 failed to pass was pending before the House. Mr. Thornton moved to postpone further consideration of the motion to reconsider until a time certain.

Mr. Mays raised the point of order against further consideration of the motion to postpone on the ground that a motion cannot be made to postpone a motion to reconsider.

The Speaker, Mr. Morse, overruled the point of order. (46th Reg.)

SEC. 2. If such a motion for reconsideration be not disposed of when made, it shall be entered upon the Journal, and cannot, after that legislative day, be called up and disposed of unless one legislative day's notice shall have been given. But all such motions made during the last seventy-two hours of the session shall be disposed of when made.

[The motion to "reconsider and spread on the Journal" does not require a vote. If any Member desires immediate action on this motion to reconsider, which has been spread on the Journal, he can call it up as soon as it is made and demand a vote upon it, or he can call it up and move to table it if he desires a final disposition of the matter. If a motion to table the motion to reconsider fails under these conditions, it is customary to leave the motion to reconsider spread upon the Journal for future action. If, however, the motion to reconsider is called up, immediately or at some later time, and it fails, or the House, upon reconsideration, affirms its original action, then that motion to reconsider is disposed of, and under the rules another cannot be made.

A motion to reconsider which is spread upon the Journal should in no way impede the progress of the matter upon which it was made. For example, if such a motion is pending upon the final passage of a bill, the bill is not held up, but in the normal course of business is sent to the Senate.]

SEC. 3. Unless called up and disposed of prior to seventy-two hours before final adjournment of the session, all motions for reconsideration shall be regarded as determined and lost.

SEC. 4. A motion for reconsideration cannot be withdrawn, except permission be given by a majority vote of the House, and it may be called up by any Member.

SEC. 5. When the double motion to reconsider and table fails, the question shall then be on the motion to reconsider, and the motion to reconsider shall, without further action, be spread upon the Journal, but it may be called up by any Member within the time prescribed in Section 2 of this rule.

[In the practice of the House, the double motion to reconsider the vote on a proposition and to table the motion to reconsider is of frequent occurrence. It is in effect two motions, one to reconsider the vote on a proposition and the other to lay the motion to reconsider on the table. The question is first on the motion to table. If that motion is lost, the question is then on the motion to reconsider. The purpose of this double motion is to prevent a reconsideration of a matter the House has already decided upon by vote, for when a motion to reconsider is tabled, another motion to reconsider is not permitted under the rules.]

The motion to rescind is not permitted under the rules.]

SEC. 6. A motion to reconsider shall be debatable only when the question to be reconsidered is debatable. The fact that the previous question was in force before the vote on a debatable question was taken, shall not be held against a debate on the reconsideration of the question.

RULE XVI.

OF ROLL CALLS AND CALLS OF THE HOUSE.

SECTION 1. Upon every roll call the names of the Members shall be called alphabetically by surname, except when two or more have the same surname, in which case the name of the county shall be added.

SEC. 2. It shall be in order to move a call of the House at any time to secure and maintain a quorum for the following purposes:

(a) For the consideration of a specific bill, resolution, motion or other measure.

(b) For a definite period of time or for the consideration of any particular class of bills.

[The point of order of "no quorum" is not accepted by the Chair if the last roll call showed a quorum.]

SEC. 3. When a call of the House is moved for one of the above purposes and seconded by fifteen Members (of whom the Speaker may be one) and ordered by a majority vote, the Doorkeeper shall close the main entrance to the Hall, and all other doors leading out of the Hall shall be locked and no Member permitted to leave the House without the written permission of the Speaker. Such permission cards shall be taken up by the Doorkeeper as the Member leaves the House. The names of Members present shall be recorded, and the absentees and those for whom no sufficient excuse is made may, by order of the majority of those present, be sent for and arrested, wherever they may be found, by the Sergeant-at-Arms or officer appointed by him for that purpose, and their attendance secured and retained. The House shall determine upon what conditions they shall be discharged. Members who voluntarily appear shall, unless the House otherwise directs, be immediately admitted to the Hall of the House and they shall report their names to the Clerk to be entered upon the Journal as present. Until a quorum appears, should the roll call fail to show one present, no business shall be done, except to compel the attendance of absent Members or to adjourn.

SEC. 4. When a quorum is shown to be present, the House may proceed with the matters upon which the call was ordered, or may enforce and await the attendance of as many of the absentees as it desires. When the House proceeds to the business upon which the call was ordered it may, by a majority vote, direct the Sergeant-at-Arms to cease bringing in absentees.

CALL OF THE HOUSE.—A quorum not being present, no motion is in order but for a call of the House [and motions incidental thereto] or to adjourn (H. P., IV, 2950, 2988). A Member who appears and answers is not subject to arrest (H. P., IV, 3019). During a call less than a quorum may revoke leaves of absence (H. P., IV, 3003), and excuse a Member from attendance (H. P., V, 3000, 3001). During a call incidental motions may be agreed to by less than a quorum (H. P., IV, 2994, 3029). This includes motions for the previous question, to reconsider and lay on the table, to adjourn and an appeal from a decision of the Chair (H. P., V, 5458, 5607, 5608; H. P., IV, 2998, 3010, 3037).

A motion for a call of the House is not debatable (63rd Cong., 1st session, p. 5653). Motions incidental to a call of the House are not debatable (C. P., VI, 688). The point of no quorum may not be withdrawn after the absence of a quorum has been ascertained and announced (C. P., VI, 657), and in the absence of a quorum no business may be transacted, even by unanimous consent (C. P., VI, 660). When the Committee of the Whole finds itself without a quorum the motion to rise is privileged (C. P., VI, 671).

RULE XVII.

OF SIMPLE AND CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

SECTION 1. When resolutions are called for, the Member offering a resolution shall rise in his place and say: "Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution." The Speaker shall then say: "The gentleman from — offers the following resolution. The resolution will be read.” As soon as the Clerk shall have read the same, the Speaker shall say: “What order will the House take on the resolution?”

SEC. 2. Concurrent resolutions shall be numbered in their regular order and shall take the same course as simple resolutions, except that they shall be sent to the Governor for his signature when finally passed. Concurrent resolutions which permit the bringing of suits against the State of Texas or any department thereof and concurrent resolutions proposing to appropriate money out of the Contingent Expense Fund of the Legislature shall be referred to the proper committee upon introduction, the same as bills.

SEC. 3. The Speaker shall permit Members to offer resolutions only from the floor of the House, and the same shall be considered in the order in which Members are given recognition by the Chair.

SEC. 4. A resolution that goes over to the next legislative day as unfinished business shall be taken up under the head of unfinished business before other unfinished business is considered, except privileged matter, and shall be considered until disposed of.

GENERAL PRECEDENTS RELATING TO RESOLUTIONS

Subject matter of simple and concurrent resolutions does not have to be submitted by the Governor in a called session.

The House was considering in regular order a concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of a committee composed of members of the House and Senate to investigate and report on the general tax situation.

Mr. Fields raised the point of order on further consideration of the resolution, on the ground that the subject matter therein contained did not come within the Governor's call.

The House overruled the point of order. (39th, 1st C. S.)

[This ruling is in accord with the long-established precedent that matters dealt with in simple and concurrent resolutions in a called session do not have to be submitted by the Governor. Such resolutions are not considered "legislation."]

A resolution to employ stenographers, etc., on January 21st, having been voted down, it was held that a resolution offered at a later date for the same purpose was in order.

Mr. Looney offered a resolution providing for the appointment of additional stenographers.

Mr. Satterwhite raised the point of order that a resolution similar in substance was defeated by the House on January 21st, and that, under Article 3, Section 34, of the Constitution, another resolution with the same object in view could not be considered at this session.

The Speaker overruled the point of order, stating that while both resolutions sought to make provision for appointment of stenographers and typists for the use of the House, the proposition to provide for such service on January 21st was entirely different from the proposition coming at this time. (27th Reg.)

Legislative and judicial inquiries may be made at the same time and are independent.

The House was considering a concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of a Joint Legislative Committee to investigate alleged bond sale irregularities in a certain county.

Mr. Petsch raised a point of order on further consideration of the resolution, "because the records of the District Court of Travis County disclosed that a suit is pending to settle the matters alleged in the resolution, and by virtue of said fact the settlement of the matters set out in the resolution have been delegated to the Judicial Department of the State, and the adoption of the resolution would constitute an infringement on the Judicial Department of our Government by the Legislature."

The Speaker, Mr. Satterwhite, overruled the point of order. (39th, 1st C. S.)

[Legislative investigation of a matter in the hands of the courts is within the power of the Legislature. There could be no infringement because the functions of the Legislative and Judicial Departments are clearly defined in the Constitution.]

The Legislature by concurrent resolution can not postpone the date a law is to become effective.

The Speaker had laid before the House a Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 12, relating to postponing the date upon which a certain act passed by the Regular Session was to become effective.

Mr. Keller raised a point of order on further consideration of the Resolution on the ground that the Legislature can not by concurrent resolution change the date a law becomes effective.

The Speaker, Mr. Barron, sustained the point of order. (41st, 1st C. S.)

Can not authorize by resolution an act in violation of an existing statute.

H. C. R. 122, authorizing the Game, Fish and Oyster Department to issue complimentary hunting licenses to out-of-State sportsmen, was before the House.

Mr. Alsup raised a point of order against the resolution on the ground that such authorization would be in violation of existing statute, and that the Legislature had no authority to change a statute except by bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

Held that permission to sue the State could be granted by concurrent resolution.

In an opinion rendered Hon. Dewey Young, dated March 18, 1931, Mr. J. A. Stamford, Assistant Attorney General, stated:

"We have spent considerable time in investigating this question, but have been able to find very few authorities bearing upon the same, but have concluded that it is both legal and constitutional for the consent of the State to be sued to be given by a concurrent resolution properly passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor."

Appropriation from the General Fund of the State can not be made by resolution.

H. C. R. 13, pending before the House, provided an appropriation of $1,000 "out of the General Fund of the State Treasury" to defray the expenses of a committee, consisting of members of the House and Senate and others, to meet with representatives of the State of Oklahoma in regard to certain boundary matters.

Mr. Jones of Wise raised a point of order against the resolution on the ground that the appropriation was in violation of Sec. 6 of Art. 8 of the Constitution which requires that an appropriation must be "made by law."

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order, and the resolution was amended by unanimous consent to provide for the appropriation out of the Contingent Expense Fund of the House and Senate. (45th Reg.)

Several points on the consideration of a sine die adjournment resolution setting aside a previous resolution and fixing a new date for sine die adjournment.

[Section 17 of Article III of the Constitution provides: "Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that where the Legislature may be sitting."]

The House was considering Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 54, the resolving clause of which is as follows:

"Resolved by the Senate of Texas, the House of Representatives concurring, That House Concurrent Resolution No. 46 be, and the same is hereby, repealed and held for naught and that both houses of the Legislature agree and consent that on the twenty-second day of May, 1931, the other house may and shall adjourn without pay for a period of more than three days, to-wit, until the twenty-second day of June, 1931, on which date both houses shall continue the Regular Session of the Forty-second Legislature until such date as may thereafter be fixed for sine die adjournment."

Mr. Pope raised the following points of order on consideration of the resolution:

1. I raise the point of order that the House and Senate, on May 12, 1931, passed the sine die adjournment resolution, adjourning the Legislature sine die at 12 m., Friday, May 22nd, which action is final and binding upon the Legislature, and any action taken by the House and/or the Senate after May 22nd is null, void and of no force and effect.

2. I raise the further point of order that, inasmuch as the resolution was passed May 12, 1931, in the House and Senate, that under the rule to move the reconsideration of the vote by which the resolution was passed in the Forty-second Legislature, the motion is not in order at this time.

3. I raise the further point of order to said resolution that the Constitution and statute fix the per diem of members of the Legislature, and such Constitution and laws cannot be changed by resolution.

4. I raise the further point of order that since the Constitution and action of the Forty-second Legislature have fixed the duration of the Regular Session of the Forty-second Legislature to end on May 22, 1931, the Legislature has no power to change such date, and only the Governor of Texas has the authority to call a hold-over or special session, since the May 12, 1931, sine die resolution is out of control of this Legislature.

The Speaker (Mr. Minor), overruling the points of order, held that the Legislature had authority to fix a date for final adjournment different from the date previously set, or to repeal and set aside, by proper resolution, a resolution fixing the date for final adjournment. He pointed out that an adjournment resolution was an act or expression of the Legislature for its own government and was not subject to the approval of the Governor. He also ruled that the new resolution was not a "reconsideration" of the old one, and therefore the reconsideration rule did not apply. He further ruled that it was entirely in order for the Legislature, if it so desired, to recess a Regular Session to some future time within its period of existence. (42nd Reg.)

RULE XVIII.

JOINT RESOLUTIONS.

SECTION 1. All amendments proposed to the Constitution shall take the form of a joint resolution, which shall be subject to the rules which govern the proceedings on bills, except that it shall be adopted on any reading after the first, when it receives a two-thirds vote of the members-elect of the House. (See Const., Art. 17, Section 1.) When a proposed amendment to the Constitution is under consideration, the vote of a majority of the Members present shall be sufficient to decide an amendment thereto, or any collateral or incidental questions thereto short of the final question, except as otherwise provided herein.

[In Texas legislative procedure joint resolutions are used for amendments to the State Constitution and to ratify amendments to the Federal Constitution.]

Amendments to Joint Resolutions proposing changes in Constitution require majority for adoption on second reading but two-thirds majority for adoption on third reading.

H. J. R. No. 16 was pending before the House on third reading. An amendment offered by Mr. Leonard had been declared lost.

Mr. Leonard raised the point of order, that his amendment, offered to House Joint Resolution No. 16, on third reading, had been adopted by a vote of 75 yeas and 63 nays, and cited as authority, Section 1, Rule 18, Rules of the House, which reads as follows:

"SECTION 1. All amendments proposed to the Constitution shall take the form of a joint resolution, which shall be subject to the rules which govern the proceedings on bills, except that it shall be adopted on any reading after the first, when it receives a two-thirds vote of the Members-elect of the House. (See Const., Art. 17, Section 1.) When a proposed amendment to the Constitution is under consideration, the vote of a majority of the Members present shall be sufficient to decide an amendment thereto, or any collateral or incidental questions thereto short of the final question, except as otherwise provided herein."

Mr. Leonard stated that according to the above Rule, it was not necessary for a proposed amendment to receive a two-thirds vote, but that such amendment could be adopted to a joint resolution, even though it be on third reading, by a simple majority vote.

The Speaker, Mr. Morse, overruled the point of order and gave the following as his reasons: Section 1, Article 17, of the Constitution of Texas sets forth the method of amending the Constitution and states:

"The Legislature, at any biennial session, by a vote of two-thirds of all the Members elected to each House, to be entered by yeas and nays on the Journals, may propose amendments to the Constitution, * * *"

No method of procedure on the part of the Legislature is set out in the Constitution in reference to action upon such proposed amendments.

Section 11, of Article 3, Constitution of Texas, says:

"Each House may determine the rules of its own proceedings, * * *"

Undoubtedly the last sentence in Section 1 of Rule 18, as cited by Mr. Leonard, was originally inserted in the Rules of the House to eliminate doubt as to the vote required for amendments on second reading of joint resolutions and took into consideration the fact that joint resolutions, under the Rules of the House, could be finally passed on second reading and therefore might be deemed to be pending on final passage.

The House Journal of the Regular Session of the Thirty-fifth Legislature, page 394, contains the following language:

"Mr. Bryan raised a point of order, on consideration of the amendment, stating that it should not be entertained for the reason that practically the same proposition had been submitted, voted on and lost on the second reading of the resolution.

"The Speaker overruled the point of order, stating that as this is a different stage in the progress of the resolution, the amendment was in order. The Speaker further held that when a bill or resolution has been taken up on its third reading amendments thereto are in order, but shall require a two-thirds vote of the Members present for their adoption."

The language had to do with proceedings on House Joint Resolution No. 1 on third reading, which was a proposal to write into the Constitution prohibition of intoxicating liquors.

The House Rules for the Regular Session of the Thirty-fifth Legislature contained a rule on joint resolutions. The Rule, XVII, read exactly like the present Section 1 of House Rule 18, except that the following words were not contained therein: "except as otherwise provided herein."

There are a number of instances in various Legislatures where the Journals of the House reflect that proposed amendments to joint resolutions on third reading were adopted when they received a two-thirds vote but declared rejected where they received a clear majority, but lacked the necessary two-thirds. On page 2332, House Journal, Regular Session, Forty-second Legislature, Senate Joint Resolution No. 2 was pending on third reading. An amendment was offered by Mr. Engelhard and others and said amendment received 89 yeas and 40 nays. The record shows the amendment to have been adopted. On page 2333 of the same Journal, the same authors offered another amendment which received 78 yeas and 56 nays. The record shows this amendment was lost.

In view of these precedents the Chair respectfully overrules the point of order. (46th Reg.)

SEC. 2. On calendar Tuesday of each week, House Joint Resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution shall have precedence over all other business, including special orders, so long as any House Joint Resolutions are on the Calendar of the House, except calendar Tuesday night sessions which have been set aside for the consideration of local and uncontested bills.

This rule shall govern only until Joint Rules of both houses on this subject are adopted.

RULE XIX.*OF BILLS.

SECTION 1. Proposed laws or changes in laws must be incorporated in bills which shall consist of a title or caption, beginning with the words, "A bill to be entitled An Act to," and containing a brief statement of the object of the proposed measure, and of the bill proper, beginning with the enacting clause, "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas," and stating at large the measure proposed; and if the bill proposes to amend an existing law, it shall be accompanied by a brief statement of the proposed change in the existing law. (See Const., Art. 3, Sec. 29.)

Two copies of every bill, an original and its carbon copy or two identical copies from the standpoint of text, must be filed with the Chief Clerk or offered from the floor at the time a bill is introduced. No bill may be laid before the House on its first reading until this rule has been complied with.

[The fact that an original bill does not contain an enacting clause is sufficient ground for the Speaker to hold further consideration of it out of order.]

An original bill must have an enacting clause.

The House was considering House bill No. 302 on its second reading. A point of order was raised on further consideration of the bill on the ground that the bill contained no enacting clause. Upon examination the Speaker found that there was no enacting clause in the bill and so informed the House. But inasmuch as the rule of the House which provides that a bill must have an enacting clause was based on an article in the Constitution which had been construed in various ways and since the Chair had refused to rule on constitutional questions, he left the point of order up to the House. The House sustained the point of order. (37th Reg.)

If the enacting clause appears in the original copy of the bill as filed, its omission from the printed bill is immaterial.

Mr. Bolin raised a point of order on further consideration of the bill, stating that as the printed bill contains no enacting clause, there is nothing before the House.

The Chair overruled the point of order, stating that the original bill on the Speaker's table contained the enacting clause, and that the omission was clearly a mistake of the printer. (28th Reg.)

MOTION TO STRIKE OUT THE ENACTING CLAUSE.—Striking out the enacting clause of a bill constitutes its rejection (H. P., V, 5326). On a motion to strike out the enacting clause a Member may debate the merits of the bill, but must confine himself to its provisions (H. P., V, 5336.) [See additional precedents after Sec. 8 of Rule 20].

SEC. 2. No bill (except general appropriation bills, which may embrace the various subjects and accounts for and on account of which moneys are appropriated) shall contain more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title. (See Const., Art. 3, Sec. 35.)

[It has been held many times that the Legislature is not bound to appropriate the full amount for a salary fixed by law. It is generally accepted that the office holder would have a just claim against the State for the balance due him, and such claim could be presented to any Legislature for payment. The fact that the full amount is not paid does not mean that the salary has been changed by the appropriation bill.]

There are many rulings which hold that a general law may not be changed in an appropriation bill, but the right of the Legislature to attach conditions to an appropriation has been upheld.]

LEGISLATION IN GENERAL APPROPRIATION BILLS.—A proposition to repeal law is legislation and is not in order in an appropriation bill (C. P., VII, 1403). A provision extending the operation of a statute beyond the limit of time provided by law is legislation and is subject to a point of order (C. P., VII, 1402). A provision construing or interpreting existing law is legislation and is not in order in an appropriation bill (C. P., VII, 1395). A provision which under the guise of limitation repeals or modifies existing law is legislation and is not in order in an appropriation bill (C. P., VII, 1628). Where a limitation requires the violation of existing law in order to make an appropriation available, it constitutes legislation and is not in order in an appropriation bill (C. P., VII, 1630).

A proposition to increase the number of employees fixed by law was held to be legislation (C. P., VII, 1456). A proposition increasing rate of compensation fixed by law is legislation (C. P., VII, 1458). A limitation on the discretion exercised under law by an executive is a change of law (C. P., VII, 1437), and a proposition to establish affirmative directions for an executive officer constitutes legislation and is not in order in an appropriation bill (C. P., VII, 1442). A proper limitation is negative and in the nature of a veto, and when it assumes affirmative form by direction to an executive in the discharge of his duties under existing law it ceases to be a limitation and becomes legislation (C. P., VII, 1606). Whenever a purported limitation makes unlawful that which before was lawful or makes lawful that which before was unlawful it changes existing law and is not in order in an appropriation bill (C. P., VII, 1606).

An amendment descriptive of the object for which an appropriation is made is not legislation (C. P., VII, 1445). An amendment denying the use of an appropriation for a designated purpose is a simple limitation and in order on an appropriation bill (C. P., VII, 1580).

SEC. 3. No law shall be revived or amended by reference to its title; but in such case the act revived, or the section or sections amended, shall be re-enacted and published at length. (Const., Art. 3, Sec. 36.)

SEC. 4. Each bill introduced shall be numbered in its regular order; and when bills are called for by the Speaker, first those filed with the Chief Clerk and then those introduced from the floor shall be read first time by caption and referred to the proper committee. During the first forty-five calendar days of the Regular Session, unless otherwise directed by a majority vote of the House, twenty-four hours may elapse between the time of introduction and the time of the first reading and reference of a bill or resolution to the proper committee.

SEC. 5. No bill shall be considered or tabled, unless it has been first referred to a committee, and reported therefrom.

Bills and resolutions introduced during the first forty-five calendar days of the Regular Session may be considered by the committees and in the House, and disposed of at any time during the session; provided, however, that after the first forty-five calendar days of a Regular Session, no bill shall be introduced in the House except local bills, emergency appropriations, and all emergency matters submitted by the Governor in special messages to the Legislature, unless otherwise directed by an affirmative record vote of four-fifths of those present and voting.

When a bill has been committed once at any reading and has been reported adversely by the committee to which it was referred, it shall not be in order to again recommit the bill unless a minority report shall have been filed in the time required by the Rules of the House, and then only by a two-thirds vote of those present.

[See precedent in point following Sec. 5 of Rule 9.]

No House bill, except an appropriation bill, on its second reading shall be considered for any purpose during the last seventy-two hours before the final adjournment of the Legislature.

No Senate bill on its second reading shall be considered during the last seventy-two hours of the Regular Session of the Legislature, or during the last seventy-two hours of any Special or Called Session.

The Speaker shall not be authorized to recognize, or shall he recognize, anyone to take up a bill out of its regular order within forty-eight hours next preceding final adjournment; nor shall he lay any bill before the House for a vote upon any passage during the last twenty-four hours next preceding the final adjournment of the Legislature; and during said last twenty-four hours, no vote shall be taken upon any bill except to correct an error therein, or to consider a conference report or Senate amendment.

The vote by which the House permits the introduction of a bill may be reconsidered.

At the proper time in the daily order of business, Mr. Sanders moved to reconsider the action of the House by which House Bill No. 1043 was introduced by unanimous consent on yesterday. This motion carried by a vote of 73 to 40. The House then voted 61 to 45 not to permit the introduction of the bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Minor, held that the House had this right since the rules required permission of the House for its introduction, and the motion to reconsider had been made within the time prescribed by the rules. He also held that since no record vote was taken, any Member could make the motion; and further that, despite the fact that the rule requires a two-thirds vote for introduction at that time in the session, only a majority vote would be necessary to reconsider. (42nd Reg.)

Point of order relative to setting back the hands of the clock near the end of a session.

Mr. Tillotson raised a point of order, stating that the hands of the clock in the Hall of the House had been set back, and that the clock should be set at the correct time. He contended that the hour set for final adjournment of the session had actually passed and that the House was not legally in session.

The Speaker, Mr. Bobbitt, overruled the point of order, and Mr. Tillotson appealed from the ruling of the Chair. The appeal was duly seconded. The House sustained the ruling of the Chair by a vote of 90 to 24. (40th, 1st C. S.)

[This point of order is raised every session, and just as regularly overruled. Such a ruling is justified by necessity, custom, and precedent. It is usually impossible to wind up the business of a session within the exact number of hours remaining after the twenty-four hour rule and other end of the session rules are in force. In fact, it is customary to suspend most of these rules in order to complete the session's business. Also, the rules permit the consideration of conference reports during the last twenty-four hours, and when conference reports on long bills, especially appropriation bills, come in for adoption, it is very difficult to get the bills enrolled in time. Many times the principal work of a session has been saved by turning back the clock for a few hours.]

SEC. 6. All bills before the House on their third and second readings, respectively, shall be taken up and acted upon in the order in which they are numbered; provided, that during the first sixty calendar days of a Regular Session of the Legislature, local bills and emergency appropriation bills shall have precedence in the regular order of business, in accordance with their number. After the first sixty calendar days, local and uncontested bills shall only be in order after 4:30 p. m. each Wednesday and each Thursday, and at such other periods as may be designated by a two-thirds vote of the House. By local bill is meant any measure affecting only one county, city or representative district, other than the establishment of new courts.

Tuesday of each week shall be devoted to the consideration of House bills on their third readings until disposed of.

But when any House bill shall be reached upon the calendar, or shall be before the House for consideration, it shall be the duty of the Speaker to give the place of such House bill on the calendar to any Senate bill which has been referred to and reported from a committee of the House, containing the same subject, or to lay such Senate bill before the House to be considered in lieu of such House bill.

On calendar Wednesday and calendar Thursday of each week only Senate bills, on their third and second readings, respectively, shall be taken up and considered until disposed of; and in case one should be pending at adjournment, it shall go over to the succeeding (calendar Wednesday) as the unfinished business.

Precedence given in this rule to certain classes of bills during the first sixty calendar days of a Regular Session shall also apply to Senate bills on Senate bill days.

[That portion of the above section, as well as Sec. 2 of Rule 23, which sets aside certain periods on Wednesday and Thursday of each week, after the first sixty calendar days of a Regular Session, for the consideration of local and uncontested bills, is of little or no importance in view of the recent practice under Sec. 39 of Rule 8, and the above section, which permit the House, by a two-thirds vote, to set aside other periods for the consideration of local and uncontested bills. Tuesday evening sessions have recently been set aside for that purpose, and a calendar of such bills is prepared by the Committee on Local and Uncontested Bills. During consideration of local and uncontested bills the Chair allows the sponsor of a bill three minutes to explain the measure before ascertaining whether or not it is to be contested, as defined in Sec. 39 of Rule 8.

The days mentioned in the above section are held to be calendar days.

The following memoranda may be helpful in determining if a bill is a local or general bill:

A bill relating to the sale of public lands is not local.

An Act to amend the general game and fish law is not a local bill.

A bill to create a new county has been held not to be a local bill.

Bills creating a district court out of parts of two or more counties are not local.

A fee bill applying to counties of more than 80,000 is not local.

A bill to amend an act to apportion the State into congressional districts is not a local bill.

Bills relating to judicial districts are general.

Bills reorganizing one or more judicial districts are general.

A bill for the purpose of reorganizing or creating a new judicial district is not a local bill unless it affects only a single representative district, and does not provide for an appropriation.

A bill having for its purpose the remission of taxes is a general bill.

Bills affecting county auditors laws are not local bills.]

Under the Joint Rules, Wednesday and Thursday are considered calendar days.

[The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, ruled in the House, and the Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Woodul, held in the Senate, that Wednesday and Thursday, as used in the above section and in the Joint Rules, mean calendar days and not legislative days. The consideration of Senate bills in the House and the consideration of House bills in the Senate should be the order on Wednesday and Thursday, irrespective of whether either house should recess or adjourn to these days. (43rd Reg.)]

SEC. 7. All bills reported favorably by a committee with recommendation that they do pass and be printed, or reported favorably with recommendation that they do pass with committee substitute and that committee substitute for such bills be printed in lieu of the original bills, shall immediately be sent to the printer by the Calendar Clerk, and a printed copy laid on the desk of each Member at least twenty-four hours before the bills are considered by the House, except during the last ten calendar days of a session. Local bills may be reported favorably with recommendation that they do pass and that they be not printed. It shall not be necessary for the House to order committee substitutes printed in lieu of original bills, nor to order that local bills be not printed.

All other bills, resolutions, reports, memorials, and petitions shall be printed initially on the order of the House, or as directed by these rules. By a majority vote of the House, the original bill or resolution shall be printed with committee substitute. Amendments by a committee which strike out all below the enacting clause shall be regarded as committee substitutes.

By a majority vote the House may order a bill mimeographed and not otherwise printed, and such mimeographing shall be equivalent to printing for all purposes covered by these rules.

[See Sections 4 and 5 of Rule 9 in regard to minority reports, particularly as to the printing of bills on minority report.

Committees have no authority to order not printed bills which they report favorably, except local bills, even though such bills may be considered uncontested, and the Calendar Clerk should disregard such recommendations and send the bills to the printer as required in the above section. A two-thirds vote of the House, by way of a suspension of the rules, is necessary to order bills, other than local bills, not printed. This is obviously a wise safeguard.]

SEC. 8. After a bill has been taken up and read, amendments thereto shall be in order, those recommended by the committee or its minority being considered first and second, respectively, if called up. If no amendment is made, or if those proposed are disposed of, then the final question upon its second reading shall be, in the case of a House bill, whether it shall be engrossed, or, in the case of a Senate bill, whether it shall pass to its third reading; and all bills ordered engrossed or passed to a third reading shall go on the calendar in their regular course.

[A committee has the power to suggest amendments, but these amendments must be offered from the floor by some Member. If not offered from the floor, they should not be considered.]

SEC. 9. No bill shall have the force of law until it has been read on three several legislative days in each house, and free discussion allowed thereon; but in case of imperative public necessity (which necessity shall be stated in the preamble or in the body of the bill) four-fifths of the House may suspend this rule, the yeas and nays being taken on the question of suspension and entered upon the Journal. (See Const., Art. 3, Sec. 32.)

By four-fifths of the House is here meant four-fifths of those Members voting, a quorum being present; provided, that within the meaning of this rule "an imperative public necessity" shall be held to mean only such condition or state of affairs which, if not immediately remedied, shall cause great loss of life or of property; and the Speaker shall not entertain a motion to suspend the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days until it shall definitely appear that such a condition or state of affairs does actually exist.

["Days" as used in Sec. 32 of Art. 3 of the Constitution has repeatedly been held to mean legislative days.

From the standpoint of legislative proceedings no legislative day can be shorter than the calendar day coincident with it. Thus, while there may be parts of two legislative days in one calendar day by virtue of a recess meeting from a previous calendar day, an adjournment, and then a reconvening on the same calendar day, there can not be created by adjournment and reconvening more than one complete legislative day in any one calendar day.

The motion to reconsider may not be applied to a vote to suspend the Constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days. If a motion to suspend fails, a new motion may be made after intervening business, but not when another matter is pending.]

Case where the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days had to be suspended a second time.

The House was considering Senate Bill No. 375 on second reading. It was passed to third reading, the constitutional rule was suspended, and the bill was placed on its third reading. After consideration the House reconsidered the vote by which it was passed to its third reading. After amending the bill, the House again passed it to its third reading. The Speaker, Mr. Minor, held that since the bill had been amended it would be necessary to again suspend the constitutional rule before it could be placed on its third reading on that legislative day. (42nd Reg.)

SEC. 10. When a bill has been taken up on its third reading, amendments thereto shall be in order, but shall require a two-thirds vote of the Members present for their adoption; or the bill may be re-committed and reported to the House with amendments, in which case it shall take the course of a bill at its second reading, unless the amendments were made in the Committee of the Whole, in which case the House shall immediately proceed to act on the bill. After all amendments have been disposed of, the question shall be upon the final passage of the bill.

[A bill recommitted at its third reading and again reported from a committee, takes the course of a bill on second reading when again laid before the House for consideration.]

SEC. 11. When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified by the Chief Clerk, noting the date of its passage thereon, and the vote by which it passed, if by a yea and nay vote.

[Frequently concurrent resolutions are passed authorizing the correction of errors in bills in the hands of the enrolling clerks, and it is often necessary to recall bills from the Governor for correction. Such recall is done by concurrent resolution. See "Recall of Bills and Resolutions" following Sec. 14 of this rule.]

CORRECTION OF ERRORS IN BILLS—RECALL.—It is a common occurrence for one House to ask the other [by simple resolution or motion] to return a bill for correction or otherwise (H. P., IV, 3460-3464). There being an error in an engrossed House bill sent to the Senate, a request was made that the Clerk be permitted to make correction (H. P., IV, 3465). The correction of an enrolled bill is sometimes ordered by concurrent resolution (H. P., IV, 3446-3450).

SEC. 12. No law passed by the Legislature, except the general appropriation act, shall take effect or go into force until ninety days after the adjournment of the session at which it was enacted, unless in case of an emergency, which emergency must be expressed in a preamble or in the body of the act, the Legislature shall, by a vote of two-thirds of all the Members elected to each house, otherwise direct; said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered upon the Journals. (Const., Art. 3, Sec. 39.)

[Due to the great amount of business which usually comes before a Regular Session of the Legislature, and the limited time of such a session, if there is a "public necessity" for the immediate enactment of a law and for its taking effect immediately, in the practice of the House it is customary to permit such a law to be passed under the emergency provisions of the Constitution and the Rules of the House. The imperative public necessity for the suspension of the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days, and the reasons for its taking effect from and after its passage are usually stated in the last section of the bill. This practice is necessary to the quick enactment of certain measures, but it should not be abused to the extent of placing an emergency clause on a bill so as to put into immediate effect that for which there is no real necessity.]

SEC. 13. After a bill has been considered and defeated by either house of the Legislature, no bill containing the same substance shall be passed into a law during the same session. After a resolution has been acted on and defeated, no resolution containing the same substance, shall be considered at the same session. (Const., Art. 3, Sec. 34.)

[In the Twenty-sixth Legislature (Journal, p. 415) a point of order was made on consideration of a bill in the House because the Senate had considered and defeated a bill containing the same subject matter. The Speaker held the point of order not well taken. A point of order of this kind must be decided on the actual facts in the case; a bill might be similar, even containing apparently the same substance, and yet be so different as not to come within the rule. If the Senate has officially reported the defeat of a particular measure, a point of order on consideration of a similar measure in the House would stand or fall according to whether or not the presiding officer of the House thinks the measure being considered in the House contains the same "substance" as the measure defeated in the Senate. See the precedent following.]

Held that a bill defeated in the Senate could be considered in the House.

The Speaker laid before the House as a special order House Bill No. 44 on its second reading and passage to engrossment.

Mr. Thomason raised a point of order on consideration of the bill on the ground that the House has official notification that the Senate has defeated a bill containing the same substance.

The Speaker, Mr. Thomas, overruled the point of order, stating that while the Constitution prohibits the passage by either house of a bill after being officially notified of the defeat by the other house of a bill containing the same substance, that it does not prohibit its consideration. (37th Reg.)

[The contention of the Speaker was that it was entirely possible for the House to amend the bill and so change it by germane amendments as to make it agreeable to the Senate.]

SEC. 14. When a bill is before the House on its second or third reading, any Member may call for a full reading, but this reading may be dispensed with by a majority vote of the House.

ADDITIONAL PRECEDENTS ON BILLS.

TYPICAL BILLS HELD NOT TO BE LOCAL.

Senate bill granting Collis P. Huntington the right to use certain streets, wharves and alleys of Galveston held to be a general bill.

Mr. Garner raised the point of order that Senate Bill No. 228 is a local bill, and that the proper notice required by the Constitution had not been given.

Overruled.

And Mr. Wooten raised the point of order that this bill is a local bill, as recognized by its authors in giving notice by advertisement, and it affects every locality through which any and all of Collis P. Huntington's railroads pass. Therefore, it ought to have been advertised in every locality affected by the proposed law, which had not been done. The notice has only been published in Galveston, whereas it ought to have been advertised in all towns and counties whose railroad connections are affected by the Huntington wharves.

Overruled. (26th Reg.)

Bill to validate titles in Carson, Dallam and Hutchinson Counties held to be a general bill.

On local bill day the House was considering House Bill No. 396, "An Act to validate titles to lands located and patented in Carson, Dallam and Hutchinson Counties on July 4, 1879."

Mr. Dowell raised the point of order that the bill was not a local bill and that it was not in order to consider it on that day.

Sustained. (26th Reg.)

Bill extending time for payment on school lands to citizens of Fort Bend, Waller and Harris Counties held to be a general bill.

House bill extending time for the payment of principal and interest on certain school lands for five years to citizens of Fort Bend, Waller and Harris Counties, was placed before the House on local bill day.

Mr. Terrell of Cherokee raised the point of order that it is not a local bill.

Sustained. (27th Reg.)

Bill relating to the sale of public land on islands not local.

A bill to be entitled "An Act to provide for the purchase of public lands in quantities of five acres or less situated on islands by actual settlers who have settled on and placed valuable improvements thereon in good faith, or to their heirs or legal representatives prior to the first day of January, 1895, and prescribing the price, terms and manner and time of such purchase," was held, on a point of order by Mr. Bean, not to be a local bill. (27th Reg.)

Bill to create a new county held not to be a local bill.

During the consideration of a bill to create the county of Ross out of parts of Comanche, Brown, Coleman, Eastland and Callahan Counties, Mr. Terrell of McLennan raised the point of order on the consideration of the bill that it is not a local bill and that this night's session was set apart for the consideration of local bills only.

Sustained. (29th Reg.)

Mr. Brelsford, rising to a point of order, requested of the Speaker that he lay before the House, as a local bill, on its second reading and passage to engrossment, House Bill No. 260, a bill to be entitled "An Act to create the county of Ross out of parts of Eastland, Comanche, Brown, Coleman and Callahan Counties."

The Speaker, Mr. Robertson of Bell, held that the bill was not a local bill and could not be taken up except by unanimous consent.

Mr. Brelsford appealed from the ruling of the Chair.

The House sustained the ruling of the Chair. (29th Reg.)

Mr. Robertson of Bell raised a point of order that the bill was not a local bill, for the reason that it is sought to create a county out of four different counties; it was general in its nature; and that any measure that would come up in the interest of this county, if organized, after it was created, would be a local measure.

The Chair, Mr. O'Bryan, sustained the point of order.

Mr. Canales appealed from the ruling of the Chair on the point of order raised by Mr. Robertson of Bell.

The House sustained the point of order. (31st Reg.)

Bill creating a district court out of parts of two or more counties not local.

Pending, on a local bill day, a House bill, the nature of which the following point of order explains.

Mr. Bowles raised a point of order on further consideration of the bill, on the ground that it is not a local bill, for the reason that it creates another district court for half of Dallas County and half of Grayson County, and makes changes also in the time of the meeting of the district court in Collin County.

Sustained. (31st Reg.)

Fee bill applying to counties of more than 80,000 not local.

The House was considering a fee bill applying to counties having a population of 80,000 or more.

Mr. Adams raised a point of order on consideration of the amendment on the ground that the bill is a local bill and notice thereof must be advertised before its passage by the Legislature.

Overruled. (31st Reg.)

A general bill can not by amendment be changed to a local bill.

The House was considering a bill to provide means of securing fair elections and true returns thereof whenever any election is held when any proposed amendment or amendments to the Constitution of this State shall be voted upon. Mr. Smith of Atascosa offered an amendment providing that the provisions of the act should apply only to the Fourth Senatorial District, which amendment, upon the point of order raised by Mr. Schluter, was held not germane to the purpose of the bill. (32nd Reg.)

RECALL OF BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Practice of recalling a bill from the Governor.

[The practice of recalling bills from the Governor for the purpose of amending or correcting has grown to be an established rule of the Legislature. When it is necessary to recall a bill from the Governor, the house in which the bill originated should pass a resolution something like this:

"Resolved by the ....., the .....concurring, That the Governor be, and is hereby, requested to return to the....., .....B. No....., for further consideration."

This resolution, having been adopted by both houses and properly signed by both presiding officers, should be officially communicated to the Governor, whereupon the Governor will doubtless return the bill by message to the house in which it originated.

When the bill has been returned to the house in which it originated the following concurrent resolution should be adopted:

"Resolved by the....., the.....concurring, That the action of the Speaker and the President of the Senate in signing .....B. No..... be declared null and void, and that the Speaker of the House and President of the Senate erase their names from the enrolled bill."

House and Senate having agreed to this resolution, the Speaker and the Lieutenant Governor will cancel their signatures.

This will leave the question back to the last action had before the bill was enrolled. If the bill is to be considered further, then every step must be retraced in regular order until the bill is again in a stage which permits the desired action.

If a bill is to be recalled to correct an error in the enrollment, a concurrent resolution authorizing the correction of the error is in order rather than following the procedure indicated above.]

Practice of recalling a bill from the Senate.

[If a motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill was finally passed by the House prevails or is pending, it is in order to recall a bill sent to the Senate. This is done by the adoption of a simple resolution. But the motion can not be made except on the legislative day the final vote was taken on the bill or on the next legislative day before the order of the day is taken up.]

In order to request the Senate to return a resolution.

Mr. Tillotson offered a resolution requesting the Senate to return to the House the concurrent resolution which set a time for sine die adjournment.

Mr. Lewelling raised a point of order on consideration of the resolution on the ground that it is not in order for the House to recall a resolution from the Senate except for the purpose of correcting an error therein.

The Speaker, Mr. Woods, overruled the point of order. (34th Reg.)

MOTION TO RESCIND.

A bill having been defeated, and a motion to reconsider the vote by which it was defeated being laid on the table, a motion to rescind the vote by which the House tabled the motion to reconsider is not in order. Such motion is not recognized by the rules.

Mr. Savage moved to rescind the vote by which the House, on February 10, tabled the motion to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 4, known as the "full crew bill," was on that day lost.

Mr. Kennedy raised a point of order "that the motion to rescind is out of order; that such a motion, if carried, would abrogate the rules of the House, which provide for the reconsideration of all matters adopted by the House, and that the motion must be made by a member of the majority, or prevailing side, and must be made on the same or next sitting day before the order for the day is taken up, and that one day's notice must be given before the motion can be called up and disposed of. The rules of the House further provide that where a motion to table prevails that motion can not be reconsidered. Immediately after House Bill No. 4 was defeated on engrossment, a motion to reconsider that vote was made, and the motion to reconsider was tabled. The motion to rescind is but another method of reconsideration, and is now made by a gentleman who voted with the losing side and made several days after the House defeated the bill which he now proposes to revive. The adoption of his motion would establish a dangerous precedent. It would mean an interminable conflict over bills that, under the rules, have been killed."

In sustaining the point of order raised by the gentleman from Kerr, Mr. Kennedy, the Speaker, Mr. Terrell, gave the following reasons:

"Rule 14, Section 1, provides as follows: When a motion has been made and carried or lost, or an amendment, resolution or bill voted upon, it shall be in order for any member of the prevailing side to move for a reconsideration thereof, on the same day or the next sitting day, before the order of the day is taken up."

Rule 12, Section 7, provides as follows: "A motion to lay on the table, if carried, shall have the effect of killing the bill, resolution or other immediate proposition tabled."

Article III, Section 34, of the Constitution, provides: "After a bill has been considered and defeated by either house of the Legislature, no bill containing the same substance shall be passed into law during the same session."

House Bill No. 4 was considered fully by the House, and after lengthy debate was defeated; a motion to reconsider and table was made, which motion carried, and, in the opinion of the Chair, the motion to table the motion to reconsider killed the bill. It is just as important to the House to be able to kill a bill as it is to pass it. If a motion to rescind could be made, the motion to reconsider and table would be without value, and if one motion to rescind could be made, such a motion could be made every day in the session, and thus waste the time and thwart the will of the House deliberately expressed when the bill was defeated.

The Speaker is aware of the action of the House in the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth Legislatures and also familiar with the rulings of the Thirty-second Legislature dealing with the question of rescinding, and he is unhesitatingly of the opinion that the rulings made by Speaker Rayburn in the Thirty-second and by the present Speaker, who was in the chair during the same session, were correct.

If a motion to rescind could be made on the defeat of any bill, it could also be made after the passage of a bill, and in this way defeat the expressed will of the House. A motion to rescind must be based on the proposition that the only way to defeat a bill is by final adjournment, and if that be true, the provision of Section 34 of Article 3 of the Constitution would be meaningless.

REVENUE BILLS.

The Speaker refuses to accept from the Senate a revenue or taxing bill.

A Senate bill having for its purpose the taxing of pool halls was laid before the House and read first time.

Mr. Terrell of Bexar made the point of order that it is a measure for the purpose of raising revenue and can not be received by the House from the Senate, and that the Chair should have it returned to the Senate with the suggestion that all bills for raising revenue must, under the Constitution, originate in the House of Representatives, and the House is therefore compelled to return it to the Senate.

The Speaker, Mr. Rayburn, sustained the point of order and the Chief Clerk was instructed to return the bill to the Senate. (32nd Reg.)

Held that the bill creating a fund to pay the State Highway Engineer by charging a license fee for the registration of motor vehicles is not a revenue measure of such a character as to prevent its originating in the Senate.

The House was considering Senate Bill No. 8, creating a State Highway Department and providing for the appointment of a State Highway Engineer, and prescribing the duties of each and fixing the compensation of the engineer; creating a fund by the license of motor vehicles, etc., when Mr. Broughton made a point of order on further consideration of the bill on the ground that it was a bill raising revenue, and, under the provisions of the Constitution, should originate in the House of Representatives.

The Speaker, Mr. Terrell, overruled the point of order. (33rd Reg.)

SPECIAL SESSION—LEGISLATION WHICH MAY BE CONSIDERED.

[Section 40 of Article 3 of the State Constitution reads as follows:

"When the Legislature shall be convened in special session, there shall be no legislation upon subjects other than those designated in the proclamation of the Governor calling such session, or presented to them by the Governor."

In order to abide by the spirit of this section, it becomes imperative that a presiding officer, as well as individual legislators, strictly construe this provision. The rule should be rigidly adhered to in special sessions of the Legislature, and points of order raised against bills on the ground that they do not come within the purview of the Governor's call or have not been specially submitted, should be uniformly sustained, where it clearly appears that the bill is subject to objection. The following decisions are helpful in interpreting Section 40 of Article 3:

It was not the intention of this section to require the Governor to define with precision as to detail the subject of legislation, but only in a general way, by his call, to confine the business to the particular subjects. Brown vs. State, 32 Cr. App., 133; 22 S. W., 601; Long vs. State, 58 Cr. App., 209; 127 S. W., 208.

It is not necessary nor proper for the Governor to suggest in detail the legislation desired. It is for the Legislature to determine what the legislation shall be. Brown vs. State, 32 Cr. App., 133; 22 S. W., 601.

This section of the Constitution does not require the proclamation of the Governor to define the character or scope of legislation, but only in a general way to present the subjects for legislation. Long vs. State, 58 Cr. App., 209; 127 S. W., 208.

In a special session a point of order that a bill does not come within the Governor's call or messages may properly be raised and decided at the time the bill is read first time. If the bill is ruled out it is not even given a number. Because the point of order was not raised at the first reading, it does not mean, however, that it can not be raised at a later stage in the consideration of the bill.

It is uniformly held that the subject matter of simple and concurrent resolutions does not have to be submitted by the Governor before they can be considered at a special session.]

Legislature is without authority to propose amendments to the Constitution at a special session.

Mr. Tillotson raised a point of order on further consideration of House Joint Resolution No. 1 on the ground that the Legislature is without authority to propose amendments to the Constitution at a special session.

The Speaker, Mr. Fuller, sustained the point of order. (35th, 1st C. S.)

VETOED BILLS.

Only requires a two-thirds majority of those present to pass bill over the veto of the Governor.

In the Thirtieth Legislature, Senate Bill No. 6 was pending in the House after having been passed in the Senate over the Governor's veto. The first vote showed 83 yeas, 36 nays, 2 present and not voting, 4 paired, a total of 125 present. The Speaker announced that, it requiring two-thirds majority vote of the members present to pass it, the bill was lost.

Mr. Alderdice, who had voted against the bill, moved to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 6 failed to pass notwithstanding the objection of the Governor. The motion to reconsider prevailed.

After the second roll call the Speaker announced the result: 88 yeas, 36 nays, 3 present not voting, 127 members present, and that the bill had passed.

When the Speaker announced the result, Mr. Gaines raised the point of order that the bill had not passed, and in support of the point of order submitted to the Chair the following proposition:

The Constitution, in providing the procedure of passing a bill over the Governor's veto, provides that it shall be returned, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, and that this house—that is, “the house in which it originated”—may pass it by “two-thirds of the members present.” Then the bill shall be sent to the other house, where it can pass by “two-thirds of the members of that house.” The point of order being that in this case the bill could pass the Senate by two-thirds of those “present,” but that in the House it required two-thirds of the “members of the House,” which would mean two-thirds of all the members elected, or eighty-nine votes, and there being only eighty-eight votes cast in favor of the bill, it had not passed.

The Speaker, Mr. Love, overruled the point of order and announced that the bill had passed. (30th Reg.)

[Research into the proceedings of the Constitutional Convention of 1875, Congressional rulings and rulings of the Supreme Court of the United States, and Texas legislative history, confirms the ruling that the vote necessary to pass a bill over the veto of the Governor is “two-thirds of the members present” in each house. A quorum must be present, of course.]

Can not amend a bill after being vetoed.

The House had under consideration a bill vetoed by the Governor, the question being, “Shall the bill be passed notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?”

Mr. Nickels offered an amendment.

Mr. Kennedy raised a point of order on consideration of the amendment on the ground that it is not within the province of the House to amend the bill at this time.

Sustained. (32nd Reg.)

Motion to reconsider the vote by which the House failed to pass a bill over the veto of the Governor is not in order.

The House had just refused by a vote of 65 yeas to 72 nays to pass S. B. 114 over the veto of the Governor.

Mr. Petsch moved to reconsider and table the vote by which the motion had lost. Mr. Bond raised the point of order against the motion to reconsider on the ground that it is not applicable to a vote to pass a bill over the Governor's veto, regardless of the result.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

RULE XX.

OF AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 1. When a bill, resolution, motion or proposition is under consideration, a motion to amend and a motion to amend that amendment shall be in order; and it shall also be in order to offer a further amendment by the way of substitute. When an amendment shall have been adopted, said amendment shall be securely attached to the bill or resolution which it amends and shall not be separated therefrom; and the Chief Clerk shall transmit to the Journal Clerk a true copy of such amendment.

[Under this rule a substitute for an original proposition or for an amendment or for an amendment to an amendment may be offered, but an amendment to a substitute is not permitted.]

Amendments on the Speaker's desk which have not been laid before the House and read have no standing under the rules, and can not be included under a motion for the previous question. See precedent following Sec. 2 of Rule 14.]

GENERAL PRECEDENTS ON AMENDMENTS.

Amendments should be clear in directions and meaning.

The House was considering a simple resolution, and the following amendment was offered: "Amend the resolution by eliminating the condemnation of the building just erected at Tyler from this resolution."

Mr. Johnson of Dimmit raised a point of order on further consideration of the amendment on the ground that it was indefinite.

The Speaker, Mr. Barron, sustained the point of order. (41st, 4th C. S.)

[This type of amendment is encountered frequently. Amendments should be drawn carefully and made definite. An amendment accurately written cannot be questioned. It is often difficult for the Enrolling and Engrossing Departments to determine the meaning of amendments, and frequently the time of the House has to be taken to correct some vaguely written amendment. Sometimes a whole law has to be re-enacted to correct some part made indefinite or meaningless by a poorly drawn amendment.]

An amendment lost on a second reading of a bill is in order on a third reading.

An amendment which had been voted down on the second reading of a bill was offered while the bill was on third reading.

Mr. O'Quinn raised a point of order on consideration of the amendment, stating that it should not be entertained, for the reason that the same proposition had been submitted, voted on and lost on the second reading of the bill.

The Chair overruled the point of order, stating that as this is a different stage in the progress of the bill, the amendment was in order. (28th Reg.)

An amendment ruled out of order at a certain stage of the proceedings might be in order at another time.

Mr. Jennings' substitute was not germane to Mr. Ray's amendment to the bank bill, but was germane to the original bill.

Mr. Ray raised a point of order on consideration of the amendment on the ground that the amendment was not in order, for the reason that the subject matter thereof had already been before the House one time in the form of an amendment, and killed by the ruling of the Chair.

Overruled. (31st Reg.)

If an amendment is lost or tabled, another one of the same import is not in order on the same reading or stage of the bill.

Mr. Shropshire offered the following amendment to an amendment:

"Amend by inserting after the word 'service,' in line 30, page 1, the following: 'Or issue to any person other than an employe of said railroad any free pass or permit to ride over said railroad.' Strike out all of Section 2, page 2."

Mr. Wooten raised the point of order that the amendment was not in order, for the reason that a similar amendment had been tabled. Sustained. (26th Reg.)

An amendment to strike out only matter previously inserted in a bill at the same reading is not in order unless reconsideration is ordered.

Mr. Bolin offered the following amendment:

"Amend the bill as amended by striking out the word 'lawyer' wherever it appears in the bill."

Mr. Hancock raised a point of order for the reason that the House had just inserted such amendment in the bill and had tabled a motion to reconsider same.

The point of order was sustained. (28th Reg.)

It is not necessary to correct a typographical error in a printed bill if the original bill is correct.

Mr. Peyton offered an amendment to House Bill No. 12 to correct a typographical error in the printed bill.

Mr. Bryan raised a point of order on further consideration of the amendment, on the ground that its adoption would make no change in the original bill, but would only correct a typographical error in the printed bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Fuller, sustained the point of order. (35th, 1st C. S.)

The Chair does not rule on the effect or consistency of amendments.

The House was considering H. J. R. 10 when Mr. Jones of Wise offered an amendment.

Mr. McKee raised a point of order against consideration of the amendment on the ground that it was in direct conflict with an amendment previously adopted.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, overruled the point of order, stating that it was not the duty of the Chair to construe the effect or determine the consistency of amendments. (45th Reg.)

RULINGS RELATING TO AMENDMENTS IN GENERAL.—A proposed amendment may not be accepted by the Member in charge of the pending measure, but can be agreed to only by the House (H. P., V, 5756, 5757). It is not in order to offer more than one motion to amend at a time (H. P., V, 5755). A motion to strike out certain words being disagreed to, it is in order to strike out a portion of those words (H. P., V, 5769). To a motion to insert words in a bill a motion to strike out certain words of the bill may not be offered as a substitute (H. P., V, 5790). If a portion of a proposed amendment be out of order, the whole of it must be ruled out (H. P., V, 5784). When it is proposed to amend by inserting a paragraph, it should be perfected by amendment before the question is put on inserting (H. P., V, 5758). A negative vote on a motion to strike out and insert does not prevent the offering of another similar motion or a simple motion to strike out (H. P., V, 5758). It is in order to insert by way of amendment a paragraph similar (if not actually identical) to one already stricken out by amendment (H. P., V, 5760). After a vote to insert a new section in a bill, it is too late to perfect the section by amendment (H. P., V, 5761, 5762).

Words inserted by amendment may not afterwards be changed, except that portion of the original paragraph including the words so inserted, may be stricken out, if, in effect, it presents a new proposition, and a new coherence may also be inserted in place of that stricken out (H. P., V, 5758). It is not in order to amend an amendment that has been agreed to; but the amendment, with other words of the original paragraph, may be stricken out in order to insert a new text of a different meaning (H. P., V, 5763). It is not in order to offer an amendment identical with one previously disagreed to (C. P., VIII, 2834). If a proposed amendment is not susceptible to any other interpretation than that which might reasonably be given an amendment previously rejected it is not admissible (C. P., VIII, 2835). While not in order to insert by way of an amendment a paragraph similar to one already stricken out, an amendment will not be ruled out for that reason unless practically identical (C. P., VIII, 2839). It is in order to offer as an amendment a proposition similar, but not substantially identical, with one previously rejected (C. P., VIII, 2838). A motion to strike out certain words being disagreed to it is in order to strike out a portion of those words (C. P., VIII, 2858).

While it is not in order to strike out a portion of an amendment once agreed to, yet words may be added to the amendment (H. P., V, 5764, 5765). A motion may be withdrawn in the House although an amendment to it may have been offered and be pending (H. P., V, 5347). The fact that a proposed amendment is inconsistent with the text, or embodies a proposition already voted on, constitutes a condition to be passed upon by the House and not by the Speaker (H. P., II, 1327). A new bill may be engrafted by way of amendment on the words "Be it enacted," etc. (H. P., V, 5781). A proposition offered as a substitute amendment and rejected may nevertheless be offered again as an amendment in the nature of a new section (H. P., V, 5797).

SEC. 2. When an amendment is offered and an amendment to that amendment, and a substitute for the amendment to the amendment is offered, these questions shall be voted on in the reverse order.

Not in order under the rules to amend an "amendment as substituted."

Mr. Farmer offered an amendment to an "amendment as substituted" which was before the House for a vote.

Mr. Keith raised a point of order against the amendment by Mr. Farmer on the ground that it is not in order to amend an amendment as substituted.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order, stating that while there were other subsidiary motions which could be made with respect to the substituted amendment, an amendment to it was now out of order. (45th Reg.)

SEC. 3. When the mover of a proposition or the membership in general has had an opportunity to perfect the original bill or proposition, another amendment which is in reality a substitute bill shall be in order. This amendment or substitute bill shall be open to amendment in the same manner as the original proposition, and under these conditions only shall it be permissible to take out matter inserted at the same reading.

["Matter inserted," as used in the above section, means any matter inserted in the original bill. Such matter would, of course, be discarded in case a new bill (in amendment form) is adopted.

Realizing the frequent need for consideration of three proposed measures on the same subject, the House has permitted an extension of the above rule so as to permit the introduction of a "substitute" for the "amendment" provided for. This substitute, which is also a complete bill, is admitted only after the House has perfected the "amendment" if it so desires. Providing greater flexibility, the Chair has recently held that each of the substitute bills referred to may be considered for amendment purposes as an original bill, and, therefore, subject to the usual amendment sequence, i. e., an amendment, an amendment to the amendment, and a substitute for the amendment to the amendment, or a direct substitute for the amendment. On each of the substitute bills, as on the original, the order of voting on the amendments would be reverse to the order of offering.]

BILLS—SUBSTITUTES.

Held that a substitute for a whole bill could not be offered as such.

House Bill No. 19 was before the House on its second reading.

Mr. Stephens offered the committee substitute for the bill. Mr. Burmeister raised a point of order on consideration of the committee substitute on the ground that under the rules of the House a substitute for an entire bill can not be offered. He pointed out that the substitute bill had a caption, an enacting clause, and a body.

The Speaker, Mr. Woods, sustained the point of order. (34th Reg.)

[The proper way to substitute a new bill is to offer two amendments, one striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting a new body, and the other striking out all before the enacting clause and inserting a new caption.]

SEC. 4. A motion to strike out and insert new matter in lieu of that to be stricken out, shall be regarded as a substitute and shall be indivisible.

[The above is taken from a rule of Congress which continues, "but a motion to strike out being lost shall neither preclude amendment nor motion to strike out and insert."]

SEC. 5. Amendments to the caption of a bill or resolution shall not be in order until all other proposed amendments shall have been acted upon and the House be ready to vote upon the passing of a measure, and the same shall be decided without debate.

[Recently the House has permitted the motion "to amend the caption to conform to the body of the bill" to be made instead of requiring a definite amendment. This is a dangerous practice in some instances and a time saver in others. When such a motion is carried the author of the bill or his representative should see that the caption is written properly and a copy given to the Journal Clerk for publication in the Journal.]

SEC. 6. If the previous question has been ordered on a bill or joint resolution, an amendment to the caption of a bill or to the caption of a joint resolution may be offered and voted on immediately preceding the final vote on the bill or joint resolution at any reading.

SEC. 7. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment or as a substitute for the motion or proposition under debate.

[The fact that the rules of the House provide that no motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment, and the further fact that the Constitution declares no bill shall be so amended in its passage through either house as to change its original purpose, narrows the scope of germaneness to such an extent that often many amendments are excluded which relate to the general subject of the original proposition but which so changes the original purpose of the bill or proposition by the elimination of essential parts thereof or by adding new matter on the same subject or by alterations in essential points. This necessarily limits and restricts amendments that are germane to any subject. The fact that there is no protection in the courts against the violation of the constitutional provision which prohibits changing the purposes of bills makes it imperative that a presiding officer, as well as Members, strictly construe the rule and use due precaution in the determination of the germaneness of an amendment.

Whether one proposition is germane to another proposition or not, or whether one amendment is germane to another amendment or not, are questions which arise during a session probably more often than any others. Each case has to be decided on its own merits, but years of Texas legislative practice and Congressional practice have brought precedents, of which the following are typical, and from these certain well established principles can be obtained which are of great help in determining many questions of germaneness.]

Example of an amendment that is not germane.

The House was considering House Bill No. 341, "An Act making appropriation to be used for the erection of a monument in the City of Crockett, Houston County, in memory of David Crockett."

Mr. Cox of Lamar offered the following amendment: Amend House Bill No. 341, by striking out the words "Crockett, Houston County," and add in lieu thereof, "on the Capitol grounds at Austin, Texas."

Mr. Sanford raised the point of order on further consideration of the amendment on the ground that it was not germane to the purposes of the bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Satterwhite, sustained the point of order. (39th, 1st C. S.)

Another example of an amendment that is not germane.

The House was considering H. B. 267, an act banning liquor advertisements. Mr. Harris of Dallas offered an amendment seeking to include "tobaccoes" under the terms of the bill.

Mr. Harris of Dickens raised a point of order that the amendment was not germane to the purpose of the bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Leg.)

An amendment adding one or more distinct propositions to a bill containing one distinct proposition is not germane even if the propositions to be added are of the same class as the original proposition.

The House was considering H. B. 277, "An act providing relief for the Old Glory Rural High Common School District No. 4 of Stonewall County . . . ." by making an appropriation to replace buildings, etc., destroyed by fire. A committee amendment was pending which proposed to add to the bill appropriations for several other destroyed buildings in other counties of the State. Many amendments were adopted to the committee amendment which added still more appropriations for similar purposes.

Mr. Knetsch raised a point of order against the committee amendment as amended on the ground that it sought to change the purpose of the bill by way of adding other distinct propositions.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

House may by amendments attach conditions to an appropriation.

The House was considering the general appropriation bill when Mr. Terrell of Travis offered an amendment to the Treasury Department as follows:

"The appropriation herein made for salary for clerks shall not be paid to more than two clerks who may be related to the State Treasurer in the third degree of consanguinity or affinity."

Mr. Bertram raised a point of order on consideration of the amendment on the ground that it is not germane to the bill.

The Speaker, ruling on the point of order raised by Mr. Bertram, said:

"The Chair thinks that this amendment is a condition attached to an appropriation, upon failure to comply with which the appropriation will cease to be effective. If this view is correct, the amendment is germane and does not amount to legislation on a different subject from that under consideration, more particularly so since the clerks whose qualifications are in a measure prescribed by this amendment are, it seems, not statutory officers, but merely employees filling places created by the biennial appropriation bill." (29th, 1st C. S.)

The Legislature can not amend an existing statute by an amendment to an appropriation bill.

Mr. Beck offered an amendment to House Bill No. 167 so as to combine the Board of Mineral Development with the Board of Water Engineers.

Mr. Van Zandt raised a point of order on further consideration of the amendment by Mr. Beck, on the ground that the amendment attempts to amend a statute through an appropriation bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, sustained the point of order. (43rd Reg.)

Matter incident to the main purpose of a bill is germane, and its addition does not constitute a second "subject" in the meaning of the Constitution.

The House was considering H. B. 48, providing for old age assistance. Mr. Farmer offered a substitute bill in the form of an amendment.

Mr. Gibson raised a point of order against consideration of the amendment on the ground that it was not germane to the original bill since the amendment sought to levy a tax on certain natural resources for payment of the old age assistance, whereas the original bill did not seek to levy a tax; and on the further ground that if the amendment were adopted the bill would contain two subjects in violation of the Constitution, namely, old age assistance and taxation.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, overruled the point of order, stating that any matter incidental to carrying out the provisions of an act was germane; and also, since the tax feature was incidental to the main proposition, in his opinion the bill did not contain two distinct subjects within the meaning of the Constitution. (45th Reg.)

Amendments must be germane, and while the House rule relating to germaneness can be suspended, yet the Constitutional section containing the same requirement can not be suspended.

The House was considering H. B. 72, and Mr. Alexander offered the committee amendment to the bill. Mr. Mays raised the point of order that the amendment was not germane to the bill.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order.

On motion by Mr. Thornton the House rule relating to germaneness was suspended for the purpose of admitting the amendment. Whereupon Mr. Knetsch raised a point of order against further consideration of the committee amendment on the ground that while it was proper to suspend a House rule, Sec. 30 of Art. 3 of the Constitution, which requires germaneness, could not be suspended.

The Speaker sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

[Some Texas legislative precedents relating to germaneness are given below. The amendment is stated first with the matter it seeks to amend, change or displace stated second. The number of the Legislature and the session are given in parentheses.]

GERMANE AMENDMENTS.

An amendment to provide for election of Comptroller of Public Accounts and other officers by adding these to a joint resolution to elect Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General at same time and place as members of Legislature. (41st Reg.)

An amendment making it a misdemeanor to make false reports relative to milk or false test of milk or butterfats, and providing an appropriation to carry into effect the provision of the act, to a deficiency appropriation bill. (42nd Reg.)

An amendment placing a gross production tax on the production of oil to bill providing for the county tax collector to collect a tax or license fee from cigarette dealers. (42nd, 2nd C. S.)

An amendment to not permit a truck to have more than twenty-five gallons of gasoline for purposes of operation to a bill licensing chauffeurs of trucks. (42nd, 3rd C. S.)

An amendment striking out Commissioner of Agriculture and substituting therefor authorities at A. and M. College, to a bill making ginners obtain license from Commissioner of Agriculture. (41st Reg.)

An amendment inserting drugs, groceries and dry goods industries to a bill making the ice industry a public business. (41st Reg.)

CONGRESSIONAL PRECEDENTS ON GERMANE AMENDMENTS.

Whether or not an amendment be germane should be judged from the provisions of its text rather than from the purposes which circumstances may suggest (H. P., V, 5783, 5803). The rule that amendments should be germane applies to amendments reported by committees (H. P., V, 5806). The rule of germaneness applies to the relation between a proposed amendment and the pending bill to which offered and not to the relation between such amendment and an existing law of which the pending bill is amendatory (C. P., VIII, 2909). The rule providing that amendments must be germane has been construed as requiring that the fundamental purpose of an amendment be germane to the fundamental purpose of the bill to which it is offered (C. P., VIII, 2911). In determining the germaneness of amendments offered to a bill the title of the bill is not taken into consideration (C. P., VIII, 2916). The burden of proof of the germaneness of an amendment rests upon its proponents (C. P., VIII, 2995).

Under the later practice an amendment should be germane to the particular paragraph or section to which it is offered (H. P., V, 5811-5820), and an amendment inserting an additional section should be germane to the portion of the bill to which it is offered (H. P., V, 5822). To a bill amending a general law on a specific point an amendment relating to the terms of the law rather than to those of the bill was offered and ruled not to be germane. (Speaker Reed, H. P., V, 5808; also ruled by Speaker Cannon, Apr. 1, 1910, 61st Cong., 1st sess., p. 4144; Speaker Clark, Dec. 5, 1912, 62nd Cong., 3rd sess.) So to a legislative section in a general appropriation bill amending one section of the criminal code, a provision amending the criminal code in other particulars was held not germane. (Speaker Clark, Jan. 16, 1917, 64th Cong., 2nd sess., p. 1487).

A bill amending several sections of an act does not necessarily bring the entire act under consideration so as to permit an amendment to any portion of the act sought to be amended by the bill. (Chairman Anderson, June 10, 1921, p. 2415; Chairman Stafford, Dec. 10, 1921, p. 200.) To a bill amendatory of existing law in one particular a proposition to amend the law in another particular is not germane (C. P., VIII, 2937). An amendment to a bill amendatory of an existing law as to one specific particular, an amendment relating to the terms of the law rather than to the terms of the bill was held not to be germane (C. P., VIII, 2916). An amendment germane to the bill as a whole, but hardly germane to any one section, may be offered at an appropriate place with notice of motions to strike out the following sections which it would supersede. (H. P., V, 5823).

In determining whether or not an amendment be germane, certain principles are established:

(a) One individual proposition may not be amended by another individual proposition even though the two belong to the same class. Thus, the following are not germane: To a bill proposing the admission of one Territory into the Union, an amendment for admission of another Territory (H. P., V, 5529); to a bill for the relief of one individual, an amendment proposing similar relief for another (H. P., V, 5826-5829); to a provision for extermination of the cotton-boll weevil, an amendment including the gypsy moth (H. P., V, 5832); to a provision for a clerk for one committee, an amendment for a clerk to another committee (H. P., V, 5833); to a bill prohibiting transportation of messages relating to dealing in cotton futures, an amendment adding wheat, corn, etc. (Speaker Clark, July 16, 1912, 62nd Cong., 2nd sess., p. 9142.) To a bill prohibiting importation of goods "made in whole or in part by convict, pauper, or detained labor, or made in whole or in part from materials which have been made in whole or in part or in any manner manipulated by convict or prison labor," an amendment prohibiting importation of goods made by child labor was held not germane on the ground that labor described in bill constituted a single class of labor. (Speaker Clark, Mar. 25, 1914, p. 5481, 2nd sess., 63rd Cong.)

(b) A specific subject may not be amended by a provision general in nature, even when of the class of the specific subject (H. P., V, 5843-5846). Thus, the following are not germane: To a bill for the admission of one Territory into the Union, an amendment providing for the admission of several other Territories (H. P., V, 5837); to a bill relating to all corporations engaged in interstate commerce, an amendment relating to all corporations (H. P., V, 5842); to a bill modifying an existing law as to one specific particular, an amendment relating to the terms of the law rather than those of the bill (H. P., V, 5806-5808); to a bill merely extending and re-enacting an existing law, an amendment seeking to further amend the law (H. P., V, 5806) (contra, Chairman Burton, Oct. 18, 1921, p. 6465, and Chairman Graham of Illinois, Apr. 28, 1924, p. 7419, 68th Cong., 1st sess.); to a bill amending the war-time prohibition act in one particular, an amendment repealing that act. (Chairman Good, July 14, 1919, p. 2555.)

(c) A general subject may be amended by specific propositions of the same class. Thus, the following have been held to be germane: To a bill admitting several Territories into the Union, an amendment adding another Territory (H. P., V, 5838); to a bill providing for the construction of buildings in each of two cities, an amendment providing for similar buildings in several other cities (H. P., V, 5840); to a resolution embodying two distinct phases of international relationship, an amendment embodying a third (H. P., V, 5839). But to a resolution authorizing a class of employees in the service of the House, an amendment providing for the employment of a specified individual was held not to be germane (H. P., V, 5848, 5849).

(d) Two subjects are not necessarily germane because they are related. Thus the following have been held not to be germane: To a proposition relating to the terms of Senators, an amendment changing the manner of their election (H. P., V, 5882); to a bill relating to commerce between the States, an amendment relating to commerce within the several States (H. P., V, 5841); to a proposition to relieve destitute citizens of the United States in Cuba, a proposition declaring a state of war in Cuba and proclaiming neutrality (H. P., V, 5897); to a proposition for the appointment of a select committee to investigate a certain subject, an amendment proposing an inquiry of the Executive on that subject (H. P., V, 5891); to a bill granting a right of way to a railroad, an amendment providing for the purchase of the railroad by the Government (H. P., V, 5887); to a provision for the erection of a building for a mint, an amendment to change the coinage laws (H. P., V, 5884); to a resolution proposing expulsion, an amendment proposing censure (Oct. 27, 1921, 67th Cong., 1st sess.); to a general tariff bill, an amendment creating a tariff board (Chairman Garrett of Tennessee, May 6, 1913, 63rd Cong., 1st sess., p. 1234; also Speaker Clark, May 8, 1913, 63rd Cong., 1st sess., p. 1381; for ruling in full, see sec. 947); to a proposition to sell two battleships and build a new battleship with the proceeds, a proposition to devote the proceeds to building wagon roads. (Speaker Clark, June 23, 1914, p. 10962, 63rd Cong., 2nd sess.; see sec. 952.)

To a law providing for the insurance of soldiers upon the payment of premiums, a proposition for the continuance of such insurance for two years without the payment of premiums was held not germane. (Chairman Tilson, Sept. 13, 1919; see sec. 915.) To a proposition appropriating money for a general increase in the salaries of employees for 1918, a provision making the same increase available for the remainder of 1917 was held not germane (Chairman Harrison of Mississippi, Dec. 19, 1916, 64th Cong., 2nd sess., p. 559), as was also a proposition to establish a minimum wage among the employees affected by the bill (Chairman Harrison, Dec. 19, 1916, p. 571.)

To a bill amending a general law in several particulars, an amendment providing for the repeal of the whole law was held germane (H. P., V, 5824), but the bill amending the law must so vitally affect the whole law as to bring the entire act under consideration before the Chair will hold an amendment repealing the law or amending any section of the law germane to the bill. (Speaker Gillett, June 19, 1919, see sec. 950; Chairman Madden, Apr. 2, 1924, p. 5437, 68th Cong., 1st sess.)

(e) An amendment which is germane, not being "on a subject different from that under consideration," belongs to a class illustrated by the following: To a bill providing for an interoceanic canal by one route, an amendment providing for a different route (H. P., V, 5909); to a bill providing for the reorganization of the Army, an amendment providing for the encouragement of marksmanship (H. P., V, 5910); to a proposition to create a board of inquiry, an amendment specifying when it shall report (H. P., V, 5915); to a bill relating to "oleomargarine and other imitation dairy products," an amendment on the subject of "renovated butter" (H. P., V, 5919); to a resolution rescinding an order for final adjournment, an amendment fixing a new date therefor (H. P., V, 5920).

SEC. 8. Motions to amend shall have precedence in the following order:

- (1) Amendment to strike out the enacting clause of a bill.
- (2) Committee amendments offered from the floor to the body of a bill.
- (3) Other amendments offered from the floor to the body of a bill.
- (4) Amendments to the caption of a bill.

MOTION TO STRIKE OUT ENACTING CLAUSE.—The motion to strike out the enacting clause has precedence of the motion to amend, and may be offered while an amendment is pending (H. P., V, 5328-5331), but the motion to strike out the enacting clause is not subject to amendment (C. P., VIII, 2626).

RELATION OF MOTION TO AMEND TO OTHER MOTIONS.—The motions to postpone, refer, amend, for a recess, and to fix the day to which the House shall adjourn may be amended (H. P., V, 5754), but the motions to lay on the table, to adjourn, and for the previous question may not be amended (H. P., V, 5754).

SEC. 9. If a bill is being considered section by section, or department by department, only amendments to the section or department under consideration shall be in order. After all sections have been considered separately, the whole bill shall be open for amendment except that amendment seeking to strike out matter previously inserted and containing substantially no new proposition shall not be in order.

SEC. 10. Senate amendments to House bills must be concurred in by two-thirds of all the Members of the House if the bill so amended is to go into immediate effect.

[See annotations and precedents after Sec. 3 of Rule 24.]

RULE XXI.

OF COMMITTEES OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

SECTION 1. No appropriation of money shall be made except by bill; and when a bill appropriating money shall be reached or taken up, the House may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole House for the purpose of considering such bill.

SEC. 2. In forming a Committee of the Whole House the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman to preside in Committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

[When the House goes into the Committee of the Whole House, the minutes of the Committee (except testimony, etc., reported by stenographers) are kept by the Journal Clerk just as though the House were in session. These minutes form the body of the report which the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole makes to the House wherever the Committee rises. Testimony taken before the Committee may be printed as an appendix to the Journal or may be embodied in the minutes of the Committee and reported to the House by the Chairman. During investigations the Chairman sometimes instructs the stenographers to furnish the Journal Clerk with a complete transcript of the proceedings from the time the Committee begins work until it completes its labors and rises.]

SEC. 3. Upon bills committed to a Committee of the Whole House, the bill shall first be read throughout by the Clerk, and then again be read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page or line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the Committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses before a vote be taken on the question of engrossment.

SEC. 4. All amendments made to an original motion in Committee of the Whole shall be incorporated with the motion, and so reported.

SEC. 5. In the event that the Committee of the Whole, at any sitting, shall, for want of time, fail to complete the amendments proposed on any bill or resolution under their consideration, or desire to postpone the consideration thereof, it may, on motion made at any time in the meantime, rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again generally, or at a day certain.

SEC. 6. All amendments adopted by the Committee of the Whole House shall be noted and reported, as in the case of bills.

SEC. 7. The rules of proceedings of the House shall be observed in Committee of the Whole House so far as they may be applicable.

It shall be in order to move a call of the Committee of the Whole at any time to secure and maintain a quorum for the following purposes:

(a) For the consideration of a certain or specific matter, and

(b) For a definite period of time.

When a call of the Committee is moved for one of the above mentioned purposes and seconded by ten Members (of whom the Chairman may be one) and is ordered by a majority, the Doorkeeper shall close the main entrance of the Hall and all other doors leading out of the Hall shall be locked, and no Member shall be permitted to leave the Hall without written permission.

RULE XXII.

OF THE ORDER OF BUSINESS.

SECTION 1. The daily order of business shall be as follows:

First. Prayer by the Chaplain.

Second. Excuses for absence of Members and officers.

Third. First reading of bills filed with the Chief Clerk, and introduction of bills from the floor and their first reading, and reference of bills to committees.

Fourth. Requests to print bills and other papers; requests of committees for further time to consider papers referred to them; and all other routine motions and business not otherwise provided for, all of which shall be undebatable, but the mover may be allowed three minutes to state the nature and purpose of the measure.

Fifth. Resolutions offered from the floor for twenty minutes, if not sooner disposed of.

Sixth. The unfinished business, to be considered until finally disposed of.

Seventh. Disposal of business on the Speaker's table, as follows:

(1) Resolutions lying over from the previous day, and Senate concurrent resolutions.

(2) Reports of conference committees.

(3) Senate amendments to House bills and resolutions, requests of the Senate for a conference and all matters of disagreement, amendments and requests between the two houses.

(4) Reports of standing and special committees.

(5) Postponed bills to be laid before the House in accordance with Section 8 of Rule XIII.

(6) Bills on their third reading.

(7) Bills on their second reading.

[By the "daily order of business" is meant all of the items above set out in Sec. 1, while the regular order or "order of the day," as used in the reconsideration rule, means the several items under the seventh main item above, "Disposal of business on Speaker's table."

For the information of Members, the Speaker has distributed at the beginning of each day a calendar showing the order of business for that particular day, or so much thereof as can be mimeographed on a single sheet of paper. The order of business, as shown by this calendar, is determined absolutely by the rules, and the Speaker has no control over it except on suspension days. On suspension days the Speaker can recognize Members in any order he pleases to move a suspension of the regular order of business. See annotation at end of Sec. 3 of Rule 23.]

Motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill was re-referred from one committee to another is out of order unless made during the routine motion period.

During the routine motion period, on the motion of Mr. Celaya, the House re-referred Senate Bill No. 143 from the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections to the Committee on Highways and Motor Traffic.

Later in the day Mr. Leonard moved to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 143 was re-referred from the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections to the Committee on Highways and Motor Traffic.

Mr. Greathouse raised a point of order on further consideration of the motion to reconsider the vote to re-refer, on the ground that since a motion to re-refer a bill is in order only in the routine motion period, then a motion to reconsider a vote to re-refer is not in order at this time.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, sustained the point of order. (43rd Reg.)

Motion to print a bill on a minority report is out of order unless made during the routine motion period.

Mr. Greathouse moved that Senate Bill No. 246, reported adversely, with a minority favorable report, be printed.

Mrs. Hughes raised a point of order on further consideration of the motion at this time, on the ground that, under the Rules of the House, the motion is out of order at this time.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, sustained the point of order. (43rd Reg.)

SEC. 2. Special orders, after the first five items under the daily order of business have been passed, shall have precedence when the hour for considering the same has arrived, except as provided in Rule 19, Sec. 6, which provides that Senate bills, on Senate bill days, shall have precedence over House bills set as special order on those days.

No special order shall be postponed to a day certain, except by a two-thirds vote of the House, and when so postponed shall be considered as disposed of so far as its place as a special order is concerned.

A special order may be taken up at any time (allowed under the rules) when called for after the time for consideration of it has arrived.

The House had been considering H. B. 49 for some time after the hour set for the consideration of H. B. 662 as a special order.

Mr. McDonald raised the point of order that even though the time set for the consideration of H. B. 662 as a special order had passed it was still the special order and therefore had right of way at that time.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

SEC. 3. All questions relating to the priority of business shall be decided by a majority, without debate.

RULE XXIII.

SUSPENSION OF THE RULES AND ORDER OF BUSINESS.

SECTION 1. No standing rule or order of the House shall be suspended except by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the Members present; nor shall any other business be considered on days devoted by these rules to and used in consideration of Senate bills except with consent of the Senate, or local bills except by unanimous consent, when there remains on the calendar any bill of either of these classes which may be considered under the rules. When the Senate and local bill calendars are clear, the House shall proceed with the regular order.

May suspend the rules for the purpose of reconsidering a vote, even though the time for making the motion to reconsider has passed.

Mr. Russell moved to suspend Rule 13, Section 7, so as to make a motion to reconsider the vote by which the "Heart Balm Bill" failed to pass.

Mr. Alsop raised a point of order on the motion to suspend the rules so as to move to reconsider the vote on the failure of the bill, on the ground such motion to reconsider would violate Section 34, Article III of the Constitution relative to passage of a defeated measure.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, overruled the point of order, on the grounds that the House may, by a two-thirds vote, suspend the rule and then vote to revive the bill. (44th Reg.)

MOTION TO SUSPEND THE RULES.—The motion may not be amended (H. P., V, 5322, 5405, 6858), postponed (H. P., V, 5322), or laid on the table (H. P., V, 5405), and the motion to reconsider may not be applied to the vote on the motion (H. P., V, 5645, 5646).

A motion to suspend the rules applies to the parliamentary law of Jefferson's Manual as well as to the rules of the House (H. P., V, 6796). When the rules are suspended to enable a matter to be considered, another motion to suspend the rules may not be made during that consideration (H. P., V, 6836, 6837). A motion to suspend the rules may be entertained, although the previous question has been ordered (H. P., V, 6827). Adoption of a motion to "suspend the rules" suspends all rules, including the unwritten law and practice of the House (C. P., VIII, 3406).

SEC. 2. Local bills and emergency measures submitted by the Governor, and emergency appropriation bills shall have precedence in accordance with their readings and number over all other bills, except on Senate bill days, during the first sixty calendar days of a Regular Session of the Legislature, but after the first sixty calendar days local bills shall be considered every Wednesday and Thursday afternoon after 4:30 p. m.

[See annotation regarding the consideration of local and uncontested bills which follows Sec. 6 of Rule 19.]

SEC. 3. The Speaker shall not entertain a motion to suspend the order of business established by the rules for the purpose of taking up and considering any bill, resolution or other measure out of its regular order, except on calendar Monday of each week, and during the first six of the last eight calendar days of a session, Sundays excepted; provided, however, that in the last six suspension days it shall require a two-thirds vote to suspend the regular order and take up any measure.

When a request is made on calendar Monday to suspend the order of business for the purpose of taking up any bill, the caption shall be read and the Speaker shall ask if there is an objection. If there is no objection, the bill shall immediately be placed before the House for consideration. If there is objection, the Speaker shall, without debate, put the motion to the House, and if carried by a majority vote, the regular order of business shall be considered suspended for the purpose of taking up and considering the bill, resolution or other measure. Provided, however, that no Member shall be entitled to have more than one bill, resolution or other measure taken up out of its regular order until every other Member has had an opportunity to call up some bill or measure. Any measure so taken up under suspension and not disposed of on the same day shall go over as the unfinished business of the next sitting day of the House and thereafter from day to day (except the days used for the consideration of Senate bills) until disposed of, but a motion to suspend left pending and undisposed of on one suspension day goes over to the next suspension day as the pending business of that day. The order of business as referred to in this section shall be considered the business on the Speaker's table as prescribed in the seventh item of Section 1 of Rule 22. In case a bill goes over as unfinished business to a suspension day, it shall be disposed of before the suspension calendar is taken up.

[A suspension of the regular order of business is a suspension of that order of business on the Speaker's table as described in the seventh main item of Sec. 1 of Rule 22, and such suspension is in order only on Mondays and during the first six of the last eight days of a session, unless permitted by unanimous consent or under a suspension of the rules. As directed in the rules, the Chair holds to the regular order on days other than suspension days unless some matter of outstanding importance demands attention.

The order of recognition on suspension days, i. e., the suspension calendar, is determined entirely by the Speaker. While the Speaker is guided somewhat by the order in which he receives suspension requests from the Members, there is neither rule nor precedent which requires him to adhere to such an order for recognition. In fact, to adhere strictly to a request order would prevent a Speaker from recognizing Members to bring up on suspension days matters of major importance such as public and party demands, emergency measures, etc. Also, if a strict request order is followed (and the order is generally known) it is possible for abuses to occur which are not to the best interests of the membership at large or to the State.

On suspension days, when a bill is laid before the House and its caption read as required in the above section, the Chair, in present practice, allows the sponsor of the bill three minutes to explain its nature before the vote is taken to suspend the order of business.

A special order set for a suspension day is taken up before the suspension calendar is considered, or displaces this calendar when the time for the consideration of the special order arrives, if later in the day.]

Refusal of the House to take up a bill out of its regular order on suspension day does not use the Member's suspension privilege.

Mr. James moved that the regular order of business be suspended, to take up and have placed on its second reading House Bill No. 379.

Mr. Daniel raised a point of order on further consideration of the motion by Mr. James, on the ground that the House has, on a former occasion, refused to take up the bill, on the motion of Mr. James and therefore because of such refusal, Mr. James' suspension privilege has been used and he should not under the rules be allowed to make a similar motion until every other member has had the opportunity to make such a motion.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, overruled the point of order. (43rd Reg.)

The rules having been suspended to take up a bill, it must be disposed of before another bill can be taken up.

The House had suspended the rules to take up for consideration House Bill No. 5, and, while the House was considering the bill, Mr. Moore moved to suspend the rules and take up House Bill No. 96.

Mr. Briggs raised a point of order on consideration of the motion to suspend on the ground that it is not in order to entertain a motion to suspend the pending business until the matter before the House, which is House Bill No. 5, on its second reading, and which was taken up under a motion to suspend the regular order of business, is disposed of.

SEC. 4. Any bill, resolution or other measure may on any day be made a special order for a future day of the session by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the Members present, and, when once established as a special order, shall be considered from day to day until disposed of; and until it shall have been disposed of, no further special order shall be made.

[The wording "future day" as used above has been held not to preclude the setting and consideration of a special order on the same day.

A bill or resolution laid on the table subject to call may be made a special order, and when so made is subject only to the rules that govern the consideration of special orders.

When a motion is pending to set a particular bill or resolution as a special order, it is not in order to move as a substitute to set another bill or resolution as a special order. However, it is in order to substitute a different time for the one originally suggested. The substitute motion, being incidental to the main question, requires only a majority vote.

Section 2 of Rule 22 provides that House bills set as special orders can not be considered on Senate bill days.

Joint Rule 23 also provides that House bills can not be considered by the House on Senate bill days without the consent of the Senate. For this reason a House bill pending as a special order on Senate bill days is not considered on those days if there are any Senate bills on the calendar.]

Bill, resolution or other measure may be set as a special order for the same day on which the motion is made.

Mr. Darroch moved that House Bill No. 46 be set as a special order for 3:45 o'clock p. m. today.

Mr. Horton raised a point of order on consideration of the motion on the ground that under the rules of the House a special order can only be set for a future day of the session.

The Speaker, Mr. Thomas, overruled the point of order. (37th Reg.)

SEC. 5. No bill except local bills shall be considered by the House unless a printed copy of such bill has been on the desk of each Member for a period of not less than twenty-four hours next preceding the time of consideration by the House, except during the last ten days of the session.

RULE XXIV.

OF COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE EXECUTIVE AND SENATE, CONFERENCE REPORTS, SENATE AMENDMENTS, ETC.

SECTION 1. Messages and communications from the Governor shall be received when announced, and shall be read on the date received.

SEC. 2. All messages from the Senate shall be received when announced; Senate bills announced as passed shall be read the first time and referred to proper committee on the calendar day received.

SEC. 3. Messages from the Senate announcing amendments to House bills and resolutions, non-concurrence in House amendments to Senate bills and resolutions, and requests for conferences, as also all reports of conference committees and all matters of disagreement, amendments and requests between the two houses, shall go to the Speaker's table in their regular order, but they may be called up for action of the House at any time, except as against a motion to adjourn, or to fix the day to which the House shall adjourn.

[When a bill is returned to the House with Senate amendments, the House may (a) agree to the amendments, (b) disagree to all of the amendments and ask for a conference committee, (c) agree to one or more and disagree as to the remainder and request a conference to consider those in disagreement, or (d) agree to one or more and disagree to the remainder. One of the first three plans is usually followed.

Senate amendments to House bills should be printed in the Journal if adopted by the House.

Amendments to a bill by one house must be concurred in by the other by a two-thirds vote of the membership if the bill is to go into immediate effect. This, of course, is in addition to the required two-thirds vote of the membership on final passage in each house.

As a rule the Chair refuses to decide upon the germaneness of Senate amendments to House bills, leaving such decision to the House to be expressed by concurrence or non-concurrence in the amendments. While there are many precedents which uphold this practice, recent rulings hold that such precedents should not control decisions of the Chair in regard to situations like the one described in the precedent below. There is nothing in the rules that could possibly prevent a Member from raising a point of order against a clear violation of Sec. 30 of Art. 3 of the Constitution and having it sustained. Ordinarily, however, the Chair should not be expected to pass upon the germaneness of Senate amendments, and this is borne out by the precedents referred to, which are both reasonable and wise, but recent trends in legislative practice point to the advisability of departing from the established practice in cases as clear as the one cited.]

Case where the Speaker ruled out a Senate amendment to a House bill, which amendment clearly changed the purpose of the House bill in a major degree.

Mr. Celaya moved to concur in Senate amendments to H. B. 1116. Mr. Wood raised a point of order on consideration of the motion to concur on the ground that the amendments were put on the bill in violation of Sec. 30 of Art. 3 of the Constitution which provides that "no bill shall be so amended in its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose."

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, in sustaining the point of order pointed out that the original House bill as passed and sent to the Senate was a local fishing license law for McLennan County, and that the Senate, by amendments striking out all below and above the enacting clause, had substituted an entirely new bill which was a general fishing license law for the entire State, such a change in the purpose of the original bill being clearly a violation of the Constitution. (45th Reg.) [See annotation just above.]

SEC. 4. Conference committees shall be restricted to adjusting the differences between the two houses on a bill, resolution or other matter in disagreement, and they shall not change text to which both houses have agreed, nor may such committees incorporate in their reports material not in disagreement between the houses even though such material may be germane to a question at issue. The Speaker is authorized to rule out of order a conference committee report made in clear violation of this rule. When the Speaker is in doubt about whether or not a conference committee has exceeded its authority under this rule, he may submit the matter to the House for a decision.

The following exceptions to this rule are hereby recognized:

(a) When an amendment in disagreement strikes out an entire paragraph and inserts a new text, the entire subject matter therein covered is committed to the conferees.

(b) When an amendment striking out an entire section of a bill and inserting a new section is in disagreement, the subject matter of the whole section is committed to the conferees.

(c) When an amendment or group of amendments in disagreement are fundamental to the structure of a whole bill, thus requiring essentially a redraft of the entire bill by the conference committee, the entire subject matter of the bill is committed to the conferees.

(d) When amendments striking out all below and all above the enacting clause of a bill and inserting in fact a new bill are in disagreement, the whole subject matter of the bill is committed to the conferees, and they shall have a wide discretion in incorporating germane material, and may report an entirely new bill on the subject.

When a conference committee report is not acceptable to the House for any reason, it may be recommitted to the same committee with a request for further consideration, and the House may or may not give any specific instructions regarding material under consideration by the committee; or the House may request the appointment by the Senate of a new conference committee and then proceed to empower the Speaker to name new conferees for the House.

[While Sec. 4 above was incorporated in the Rules of the House for the first time in the Forty-fifth Legislature, the provisions of the section have been followed for years in almost every respect by the Texas legislatures. The rule also represents current Congressional practice.

Conference committees are composed of five members, as provided in the Joint Rules. Usually where the vote in the House has been close on the major point or points at issue, the Speaker gives the majority three members and the minority two members on the committee. When the vote is not close but there has been a strong minority fight, the minority is usually given one place on the committee.

A conference report must receive a two-thirds vote of each house in order to put a measure into immediate effect. In a decision handed down on June 27, 1931, Judge Morrow, presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, said: "It seems enough to say that a reasonable and logical interpretation of the controlling provision of the Constitution of this State confers upon the Legislature both the power (by a record vote of two-thirds of the members of each house) to change the time within which an act of the Legislature may ordinarily become effective, and requires that they exercise such authority and power at the time when they become aware of the terms of the law as finally agreed upon. Previous action upon a bill in its initial stages, before material and radical changes have been made, would not control."]

The House, and not the Speaker, decides whether or not a conference committee has violated instructions.

The House was considering a conference committee report, having previously given its committee certain instructions.

Mr. Hopkins raised a point of order on further consideration of the report on the ground that the committee had violated the instructions given it by the House.

The Speaker, Mr. Barron, overruled the point of order. (41st, 1st C. S.)

[This was a matter for the House, not the Speaker, to decide. It has often been held that a conference report should not be ruled out on a point of order that instructions had been disobeyed. The House may either accept the report or send it back to the conference committee for further consideration, provided, of course, that the Senate

conferees have not been automatically discharged by adoption of the report by the Senate.]

Proper time to instruct a conference committee is before the conferees are appointed.

The Speaker laid before the House, as unfinished business, a resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Morse relative to instructing conferees on House Bill No. 2.

Mr. Young raised the following point of order: I raise the point of order that this resolution comes too late. After the matter has been turned over to the conference committee, nothing remains before the House at this time, the committee having made no report. The time to instruct a conference committee is when the committee is authorized, not after they have entered upon their negotiations and have made no report.

The Speaker, Mr. Barron, sustained the point of order. (41st, 5th C. S.)

Can not instruct conference committee when to report if the committee has already been appointed.

Mr. Alsup moved to instruct conference committee on House Bill No. 1 to bring in a conference report within a certain time.

Mr. Van Zandt raised a point of order on the ground that a conference committee can not be instructed when to report after they have already been appointed.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, sustained the point of order. (43rd, 3rd C. S.)

[Also, any action the House could take would only affect the House conferees, and they alone could not, of course, bring back any report for adoption.]

Not in order to instruct a conference committee to include in its report, in violation of the rules, matter not in disagreement between the two houses.

The House had just refused to concur in the Senate amendments to H. B. 5. Mr. Morse moved that the conference committee be instructed to include certain matter in its report.

Mr. Jones of Wise raised a point of order against the motion on the ground that it sought, in violation of the rules, to have the committee include matter which was not in disagreement between the houses.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

[The Senate amendments to H. B. 5 were of minor importance in form and content, so far as the bill was concerned, and affected only parts of the bill, so they did not bring the disagreement situation under the exceptions set out in Sec. 4 above.]

Conference committee report can not be amended by concurrent resolution.

Mr. Stinson offered a concurrent resolution to strike from the conference report on House Bill No. 11 certain words.

Mr. Spears raised a point of order on further consideration of the resolution, on the ground that a conference committee report can not be amended by a resolution.

The Speaker, Mr. Stevenson, sustained the point of order. (44th Reg.)

Not in order to amend a conference report, even after it has been adopted.

S. C. R. 76, authorizing a major and material change in the conference report on H. B. 5 which had been adopted by both Houses, was under consideration.

Mr. Jones of Wise raised a point of order against consideration of the resolution on the ground that it sought to make a material change in a conference committee report already adopted, and that such a resolution would be in fact a material amendment to said report, and was therefore out of order.

The Speaker, Mr. Calvert, sustained the point of order. (45th Reg.)

[Frequently, however, the House permits the adoption of concurrent resolutions authorizing the correction of typographical errors, unintentional omissions, and changes of minor importance in conference reports which have been adopted by both Houses.]

SENATE AMENDMENTS.—Revenue bills must originate in the House, but the Senate may concur with amendments (H. P., II, 1480). Instances wherein the Senate has acquiesced in the constitutional requirement as to revenue bills, while holding to a broad power of amendment (H. P., II, 1497-1499). It is for the House and not the Speaker to decide whether or not a Senate amendment on the subject of revenue violates the privileges of the House (H. P., II, 1320).

DISAGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE HOUSES—CONFERENCES.—Sometimes one house disregards the request of the other for a conference and recedes from its disagreement, thereby rendering a conference unnecessary (H. P., V, 6316-6318).

The majority of the managers of a conference should represent the attitude of a majority of the House on the disagreements (H. P., V, 6336). In a conference the managers of the two houses vote separately (H. P., V, 6336). The House may instruct its managers of a conference, and the motion to instruct should be offered after the vote to ask for or to agree to a conference, and before the managers are appointed (H. P., V, 6379-6382). The motion to instruct conferees may be amended unless the previous question has been ordered (H. P., V, 6525). While it is unusual to instruct conferees before a conference is had, it is in order to move instructions for a first conference as for any subsequent conference (C. P., VIII, 3230).

A conference may be had on only a portion of the amendments in disagreement, leaving the differences as to the remainder to be settled by the action of the two houses themselves (H. P., V, 6401). After a conference has been agreed to and the managers for the House appointed it is too late to reconsider the vote whereby the House acted on the amendments in disagreement (H. P., V, 5664).

Conferees do not usually admit persons to make arguments before them (H. P., V, 6263).

The motion to agree or concur should be put in the affirmative and not in the negative form (H. P., V, 6166). A conference report being presented, the question on agreeing to it is regarded as pending (H. P., V, 6517). The motion to agree is the pending question to a conference report, and the motion to disagree is not admitted (H. P., II, 1473).

Although a conference report may be in disregard of the instructions given the managers, yet it may not be ruled out on a point of order (H. P., V, 6395). A conference report must be accepted or rejected in its entirety, and while it is pending no motion to deal with individual amendments in disagreements is in order (H. P., V, 6323). A conference report is not subject to amendment, but must be considered and disposed of as a whole (C. P., VIII, 3306).

The rejection of a conference report leaves the matter in the position it occupied before the conference was asked (H. P., V, 6525). Where managers of a conference are unable to agree, or where a report is disagreed to in either house, another conference is usually asked (H. P., V, 6288-6291). Where a conference report is ruled out of order, the bill and amendments are again before the House as when first presented, and motions relating to amendments and conference are again in order (C. P., VIII, 3257).

The Speaker may rule a conference report out of order if it is shown that the conferees have exceeded their authority (C. P., VIII, 3256). [Exceeding authority does not mean violating instructions given conferees.]

Action on a conference report by either House discharges the committee of conference and precludes a motion to recommit, but until one House has acted on the report the motion to recommit to the conferees, with or without instructions, is in order (C. P., VIII, 3241).

The failure of a conference does not prevent either house taking such independent action as may be necessary to pass a bill (H. P., V, 6320).

The following provision concerning conference committee reports on appropriation bills was adopted as shown on page 84, House Journal, Regular Session, 46th Legislature:

Amend House Rules, at proper place, by providing that all free conference reports relating to appropriation bills be printed in the House Journal at least 48 hours before action is taken by House.

RULE XXV.

OF PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

Such petitions and memorials shall be printed in the Journal only when specifically ordered by a vote of the House.

SEC. 2. No memorial or other paper presented to the House shall be withdrawn from its files, except by order of the House. But when an act may pass for the settlement of any private claim, the Chief Clerk is authorized to transmit to the officer charged with settlement the papers relating to the claim.

RULE XXVI.

OF PRINTING.

SECTION 1. Every motion to print documents, reports and other matter transmitted by the department heads, or to print memorials, petitions, documents or any other papers, except messages from the Governor, or bills of the Senate or House of Representatives, or amendments thereto, shall, unless the House orders otherwise, be referred to the Committee on Printing.

RULE XXVII.*OF ABSENTEES.

SECTION 1. No Member shall absent himself from the sittings of the House without leave, unless in case of sickness. Should any Member absent himself without leave for the purpose of impeding the action of the House, such Member may be expelled; provided, that before action is taken hereunder the matter shall be referred to the Committee on Privileges, Suffrage and Elections for investigation and report. It shall require two-thirds vote of the Members present to excuse absentees, and no Member shall be excused upon his own motion. Leaves of absence may be revoked at any time by a majority vote of the House.

SEC. 2. The names of absentees shall appear upon the Journal.

RULE XXVIII.*OF WITNESSES.

SECTION 1. The rule for paying witnesses summoned to appear before the House, or any of its committees, shall be as follows: For each calendar day a witness shall attend, the sum of three ($3.00) dollars; and for coming to or going from the place of examination he shall receive actual and necessary expenses, and two ($2.00) dollars for each calendar day which is necessarily consumed in going to and returning from said place of examination; but nothing shall be paid for traveling home when the witness was at the place of trial when summoned. The certificate of the chairman of the committee before which a witness is summoned, of the amount due such witness, shall be sufficient authority for the same to be paid.

RULE XXIX.

SEC. 2. Reporters of newspapers shall be assigned appropriate and convenient seats in the House by direction of the Speaker. Provided, that no newspaper reporter, or any person whomsoever, whether a State officer or not, except the Governor, who is lobbying or working for or against any pending or prospective legislative measure, shall, in any event, be permitted upon the floor of the House, or the rooms leading thereto, when the House is in session; nor shall any newspaper reporter or correspondent, whose salary or compensation is paid in whole or in part by any person, firm, corporation or association other than the paper or papers for which he reports, or represents, be admitted into the Hall or rooms leading thereto when the House is in session.

And any person who has appeared before any committee for or against any measure pending or that has been before this House shall come within this rule.

SEC. 3. Every newspaper reporter and correspondent, before being admitted to the House during its session, shall file with the Speaker a written statement showing the paper or papers which he represents, and certifying that no part of his salary or compensation is paid by any person, firm, corporation or association except the paper or papers which he represents.

SEC. 4. It shall not be in order for the Speaker to entertain a request, motion or resolution for the suspension of this rule, or to present from the chair the request of any Member for unanimous consent.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms and his assistants to clear the Hall of all persons not entitled to the privilege thereof five minutes before the hour of the meeting.

[An addition to Sec. 2 of Rule 3, adopted by the 45th Legislature, requires that the floor be cleared at 8:30 a. m. each meeting day.]

SEC. 6. Provided, that this rule shall not be construed to prevent any citizen from appearing before any of the committees of the House, when in session. And provided further, that this rule shall not apply during the inauguration of the Governor, and other public ceremonies provided for by resolution of the House. And it is further provided that no motion shall be in order to invite any person to

If said railing is erected, no person shall be admitted to this area except the Governor and his private secretary, the Lieutenant Governor, duly accredited newspaper reporters and correspondents who have complied with Sections 2 and 3 of Rule XXIX of the Permanent Rules of the Forty-fifth Legislature, Members of the Senate and employees of the Senate, Members of the House, officers of the House and employees of the House, when said employees are actually engaged in the discharge of their duties as employees. It shall be the special duty of the Speaker to see that said employees do not remain within this area except when they are actually engaged in the performance of their official duties.

All other persons entitled to admission to the Hall of the House, under Section 1 of Rule XXIX of the Permanent Rules of the Forty-fifth Legislature, shall be admitted to the area aforementioned only by resolution adopted by the House.
